REDS REJECT 1-YEAR A-BAN

U.S. To Stand Pat On No-Test Pledge

. . . Unpromising Prelude To Geneva Talk

Geneva (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday night rejected western proposals to ban nuclear weapons testing for one year. It was an unpromising prelude to the American-British-Soviet talks opening here Friday on possibilities of a permanent nuclear cease-fire.

But the United States countered in Washington with an announcement that unless the Russians carry out another nuclear weapons test, the United States will maintain its own ban for one year beginning Friday.

Both Britain and the United States said the talks with the Russians will go on whether the Russians test nuclear weapons or not.

Western sources here said the British also will go along on the U.S. test ban policy: No British blasts for a year if the Russians desist.

But the Soviet notes to the United States and Britain rejecting the one-year ban were backed up by two other Soviet pronouncements.

In Moscow, the Tass news agency and Moscow radio reiterated in a long statement aimed at the talks here that the Russians will continue testing until their test total matches that of the United States and Britain combined.

Doom Sounded

At the U.N. in New York, the Soviet delegation sounded the doom of a small nation compromise move promoted by India and Yugoslavia.

The Russians said they would vote for a proposed no-limit discontinuance of tests with a control system if Britain and the United States would join in a pledge to stop tests for all time no matter how the talks here result. The condition was rejected by Britain and the United States.

The new Soviet notes went back part way to the Kremlin's theme that from the start Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko ought to be settling he issues directly across a nuclear conference table.

The Russians a month ago proposed that the meetings be raised to foreign minister's level.

Good Idea

The new notes said that was still a good idea but they proclaimed that the United States has said it is willing for Dulles to enter the negotiations at a later stage. So, the notes suggested, the Soviet government now proposes that Dulles, Gromyko and Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd sit in later to speed up agreement.

Lincoln White, the U.S. State Department spokesman in Washington, said the Soviet notes rejecting the U.S.-British proposals for the one-year ban indicated they are not insisting on the presence of foreign ministers at the meeting.

In the face of the Soviet note's insistence that tests be banned for all time, White remarked that the United States and Britain had moved in their one-year proposal toward the Soviet proposal in 1957 for a two or 3 year ban.

A-Fallout Scare Hits West Coast

. . . Official 'No Danger' Word Passed

Los Angeles (AP)—A sharp increase in radioactivity over southern California Thursday set off a wave of indignation and apprehension.

Mayor Norris Poulson telephoned a protest to Washington. He demanded that the all but completed atomic weapons tests in Nevada be halted immediately.

The City Health Department said the amount of radioactivity in the air rose 20% above the accepted safe level for human consumption over a period of months.

The Atomic Energy Commission which has been busy rushing completion of weapons tests in Nevada, insisted there was no danger.

A final scheduled shot was canceled shortly before midnight. High winds had been blowing all day and night, making it likely that the shock wave and fallout would hit populated areas. The weapon was to have been fired from a balloon at 1,500 feet.

Reports of the spurt in radioactivity created excitement in Los Angeles. Newspaper and official switchboards received hundreds of calls inquiring of possible danger.

Workers in Civic Center office buildings closed windows.

"Fallout perils L.A.," headlined the Herald Express. "Atom Fallout Rise Here Sets Off Panic," said the Mirror News banner.

The AEC insisted it is a temporary situation and that the radioactivity will dissipate quickly. A spokesman said the amount is equal only to the exposure a person would get under normal circumstances over two months.

But Mayor Poulson was alarmed because wind was carrying fallout from Nevada tests over his city.

In Washington, Libby said: "There was some fallout (in Los Angeles) but it is not hazardous."

Nevada A-Series Is Ended

. . . Record Blast

Atomic Test Site, Nev. (AP)—The United States ended its fall nuclear test series Thursday with a record underground blast that ripped a huge hole in the side of a mesa.

The climax left scientists weary from days of 'round the clock effort to finish the series by the deadline time. And it left a large question mark over the future of America's atomic test program.

Midnight Thursday was the deadline proposed by President Eisenhower for a ban on atomic tests. A few hours before the deadline the Soviet Union rejected the proposal.

The climactic shot came at 7 a.m. when the calm of a desert sunrise was rent by a tremendous explosion that sent a 500-foot wide column of debris soaring 1,000 feet over a mesa.

Mightiest

It came from a device fired in a chamber at the end of a tunnel 2,600 feet into the side of a mesa. The charge was equal to 20,000 tons of TNT, believed the mightiest underground blast ever. The Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs of World War II were rated at the same power.

Newsmen 4½ miles away first felt a jolting, earthquake-like shock, then saw the great fountain of rock and sand rise majestically heavenward from a point on the mesa's slope directly above the blast chamber.

White House Gets Halloween Look

Washington (AP) — The White House, like many another American home, is decked out for the Halloween weekend.

It is doubtful that any trick-or-treat wanderer will be so bold as to approach the gates of the President's home. But the spirit of Halloween rides there.

Tourists at the White House got a surprise glimpse of cornstalks and pumpkins surrounding the formal marble columns of the entrance hall, which was bathed in eerie orange light.

Wyoming Deputy Next Fugate Case Witness

. . . Tearful Father Of Slain Youth First On Stand

By Del Harding

Caril Fugate's murder trial enters its fifth day Friday, and the Wyoming lawman who took her into custody last Jan. 29 is expected to take the stand.

Dep. Sheriff William Romer of Casper, Wyo., is expected to be among the first witnesses called by Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele. Caril reportedly ran up to him screaming "He's going to kill me, he's crazy!" referring to Charles Starkweather who was wrestling another man on the road nearby for a rifle west of Douglas, Wyo.

Lancaster District Judge Harry A. Spencer adjourned Thursday's trial at noon to allow juror H. F. Theimer of 4339 Randolph to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law in Geneva, Neb.

Charles' Captor

Also expected to testify Friday is Sheriff Earl Heflin of Douglas, Wyo., who along with Douglas Police Chief Bob Ainslie, captured Starkweather east of Douglas after a 110 mph chase after he had escaped from where Caril had fled to Romer.

Eight state's witnesses took the stand Thursday, but no new details of the winter crime spree which claimed 10 lives were revealed. Testimony was nearly a carbon copy of that given by the same witnesses at Starkweather's trial last May.

None of the 8 witnesses offered any testimony which implicated Caril in the crime spree, but testimony Friday is expected to begin Scheele's attempt to prove she was Starkweather's willing helper on the rampage and not a hostage as the defense claims.

Jensen First

First to testify was Robert E. Jensen of Bennet, father of slain Robert W. Jensen, the 17-year-old youth whose death Caril is charged with murder

Dr. Beadle 1st In State To Win A Nobel Prize

. . . Wahoo Man Receives Top Honor

Nebraska Thursday claimed its first Nobel prize winner.

Dr. George Wells Beadle, 55, native of Wahoo, was one of 3 American scientists named as winners of the 1958 Nobel Prize in Medicine and Physiology.

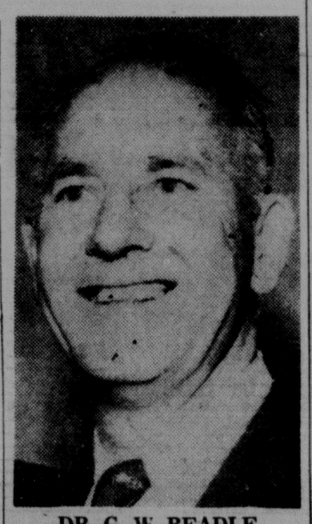
Dr. Beadle, head of the famed Division of Biology at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, captured the high science award for his research with genetics.

Receiving his B.S. in agriculture from the University of Nebraska in 1926, he was given his master's degree from NU a year later. He took further work at Cornell University where he received his Ph.D. in 1931.

Dr. Beadle was recipient of the gold medal of the Emil Christian Hansen Foundation in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1953, and was given the Lasker award from the American Public Health Assn. in 1950. He holds honorary doctor of science degrees from Yale University, Rutger's University and Kenyon College in Ohio.

In 1949 he received an honorary doctor of science degree from the University of Nebraska.

Although Dr. George W. Beadle, Nobel prize recipient, is the first native Nebraskan to be so honored, a former Nebraskan, the late Charles G. Dawes, received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1925.



DR. G. W. BEADLE

Ohio born Vice President Dawes, who practiced law in Lincoln from 1887 to 1894, was granted the high award jointly with Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary.

Other stories on Dr. Beadle and the two other Nobel Prize winners appear on pages 2 and 3.

Rescue Builds Hopes

Teams Digging For 50 Lost In Mine

Springhill, N.S. (AP)—Spurred by the rescue of 12 miners after all hope was lost, tired teams dug through the rubble of a wrecked coal mine Thursday hopeful of finding more survivors.

The rescue squads will keep on until the last of the 50 still missing from last Thursday's disaster are found, dead or alive.

The 12, rescued at dawn, said they left dead comrades behind them in their tunnel. But there was hope that others might have been as lucky as the 12 in finding a life-saving pocket in the debris.

The dozen miners told a story of hunger, thirst, prayer and despair during 6 days of entombment.

"I just lay there and I prayed," said one miner of the days of darkness deep in the mine.

And then when the click of a rescue crewman's pick told them deliverance was near "I hollered, God how I hollered," said another.

Killed 26

The ordeal for the 12 began Thursday night when a massive shift of the earth—caused by pressures deep in the mine—trapped 174 men and killed at least 26.

The known death toll rose Thursday night to 31, however. One more body was brought up. Rescue workers said they had sighted 4 more.

That reduced to 50 the men to be accounted for. Frank Doxey, assistant to rescue director Harold Gordon, said the answer to their fate was at the end of about 420 feet more of the kind of diggin, scrabbling and clawing that accomplished the rescue of the 12 who were brought out alive early Thursday.

Each of the 12 had lost about 10 pounds but doctors said they were in surprisingly good condition.

Hugh Guthro, 31, said the upheaval of rock and coal—miners call it a bump—caught his group two miles from the entrance of Cumberland Mine No. 2 and more than 4,000 feet below the surface.

There was dust and darkness and confusion. Buried up to his chest, Guthro could hear the cries of the dying.

"The floor came up and the ceiling came down," Wilfored Hunter said. "I was hurled about 15 feet along with more falling coal and rock and timber and iron than I ever saw before."

Both Dead

He said his boss and his buddy were only two steps behind him. Both were killed.

"We had a couple of lamps operating for a day or so and I crawled around to look," Hunter said. "I saw my twin brother Frank imbedded in the ceiling and just dangling there. He was dead but I couldn't leave him."

Joe McDonald, who suffered a fractured thigh, said he was hurled against the tunnel ceiling and "When I came to, I was lying on a rock pile. Men were dying, and groaning and moaning all around me."

The men had to give up all attempts to dig out when weakness overtook them. They found themselves in a pocket 100 feet long and only 3 feet high.

California Girls Strangled, Left On Desert

Santa Ana, Calif. (AP) — A television repairman Thursday admitted strangling 3 Los Angeles models and leaving their bodies in lonely southern California desert areas, sheriff's officers said.

Harvey M. Glatman, 30, of Los Angeles, was booked on suspicion of murder. Sheriff's officers said he had served prison terms in New York and Colorado for rape and kidnaping.

He was arrested Monday night in Orange County, just south of Los Angeles, as he fought savagely to attack and slay a 4th intended victim, said Sgt. Dan Rios of the Orange County Sheriff's homicide Detail.

After two days of questioning and a lie detector test, Glatman admitted the 3 slayings, chief investigator Joel Hays of the Orange County District Attorney's Office reported.

1st Victim

Hays said Glatman told this story:

His 1st victim was Mrs. Judy Ann Dull, 19, of West Hollywood. He made a date to take pin-up photos of her Aug. 1, 1957, assaulted her in his apartment, then garroted her with a length of sash cord in the desert near Indio.

Next to die was Mrs. Shirley Ann Loy Bridgeford, 24, of Los Angeles, in the Los Angeles suburb of Sun Valley, a divorcee he met through a Lonely Hearts Club. She was strangled last March 8 with the same length of cord in desert country south of Escondido, near San Diego, after he forced her to disrobe and submit to him in his automobile.

The 3rd victim was Miss Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, model and dancer, of Los Angeles. He picked her name from a modeling advertisement in a newspaper. Then he went to her apartment, overpowered her and tied her.

Same Area

He took her out the back way to his car early next morning, drove to the same general area where Mrs. Bridgeford died, strangled her and covered the body with debris.

Officers said the 4th woman marked for death by Glatman was Miss Lorraine Vigil, 28, of Los Angeles.

U.S. Doctors Win Nobel

$41,420 Prize Awarded To 3 For Research Into Heredity

Stockholm, Sweden (AP)—The 1958 Nobel Prize in medicine and physiology was awarded Thursday to 3 American scientists for their work on problems of heredity. The work could have strong bearing on the future of cancer research.

One half of the $41,420 prize goes to 33-year-old Dr. Joshua Lederberg of the University of Wisconsin and the other half to Drs. E. L. Tatum, 49, of New York's Rockefeller Institute and George Wells Beadle, 55, of the California Institute of Technology.

In awarding half of the medical prize to Lederberg the committee said it was "for his discoveries concerning genetic recombination and the organization of the genetic material of bacteria."

The term genetic recombination means sexual life in the world of bacteria. Lederberg discovered that from the geneticists' viewpoint "this corresponds exactly to the normal sexual fertilization in the higher organisms."

The committee said the other half of the prize goes to Beadle and Tatum "for their discovery that genes act by regulating specific chemical processes."

Prof. Torbjorn Casperson of the awarding group, an expert on genetics, said this discovery "offered the first chance to understand the mode of action of the genes" and is one of the foundations of modern genetics.

Red Mold

The research of the two Americans was based largely on a red bred mold called neurospora crassa. Any strain of this mold can be multiplied a million times in two days without genetic change. By disturbing the function of its genes, researchers have been able in a short time to figure out some fundamental chemical mechanism of heredity.

Beadle and Tatum bombarded the bread mold with radiation until they produced organisms which could not make certain necessary amino acids. They then knew they had changed or destroyed a specific gene in the cell. One by one they created new types of mold cells lacking the power to make one or another of the amino acids.

This led them to the idea that genes might be manipulated in man to prevent him from growing harmful cells, such as cancer, or perhaps make him immune to many diseases.

Beadle was born Oct. 22, 1903 on a farm near Wahoo, Neb. in 1946 he was appointed head of the division of biology at California Institute of Technology.

Beadle is at present visiting Oxford University in England to lecture on biochemical genetics.

California Church Tax Issue Boils

...Bishops Angered

Los Angeles (AP)—Controversy arising from a California ballot measure calling for an end to tax exemption for parochial and private schools reached a peak Thursday. Bishops issued strong statements.

Center of a dispute that has drawn the White House, church leaders, the FBI and the Federal Communications Commission into the picture is the wording of a paid announcement being carried on 127 radio stations in the state.

The announcement, prepared by sponsors of the measure, proposition 16, says the Catholic Church is leading the fight against it under orders from Rome. It includes the statement:

"This foreign effort to influence California voters is in contrast with the stands of both the President and the Vice President of the United States—both of whom have refused appeals to influence our state education policy."

Join Catholics

Protestants joined Catholics in firing off protests to the FCC, the FBI and the White House.

James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, denied the President had ever taken a stand on the initiative measure. Nixon said that inference that he favored taxing church and private schools was "falsification . . . at its worst."

Mrs. Gantz Dies; Ex-Solon's Wife

Alliance, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. Harry E. Gantz, 71, wife of the former Nebraska state senator, died Thursday after a long illness.

She was the daughter of William Mitchell, pioneer Sandhills attorney.

SEN. PAUL H. DOUGLAS

Sen. Douglas, Capital Newsmen To Appear At Nov. 10 Convocation

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) will appear at a University of Nebraska Convocation Nov. 10 with a panel of Washington news correspondents.

In variation on the traditional convocation, the 4 will attempt to create a front-page story during interview in the Colliseum before University students.

The newsmen include Kenneth G. Crawford, Newsweek bureau chief and senior editor for National Affairs; Neal Stanford, Christian Science Monitor bureau chief and national columnist; and John C. Metcalf, editor of "Background," Washington newsletter on world and national affairs, who will moderate.

Classes will be dismissed and the program is open to the public.

Question Periods

During the unrehearsed presentation newsmen will question Sen. Douglas on areas of current news interest in both national and world affairs. The panel then will be open to audience questions.

Sen. Douglas will also be on hand after noon in the Student Union ballroom for an informal question period. Stanford will speak to journalism classes in the afternoon.

Sen. Douglas was elected to the U.S. Senate with a plurality of 407,000 votes in 1948 and was re-elected in 1954. He has been an active member of the Banking and Currency Committee and of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

Douglas Is Author

He is author of many books on economic subjects of international recognition. His book "The Theory of Wages", was awarded a $5,000 prize in international competition. In 1947 Senator Douglas was named to the presidency of the American Economic Assn. one of the highest honors in his profession.

Crawford is the author of two books, "Report on North Africa" and "The Pressure Boys." He has been a prolific contributor to various national magazines and is a frequent participant in radio and television programs.

Newsmen Experienced

Stanford is a Washington diplomatic correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor. He served for 4 years as assistant editor of the American news department for the Monitor. He is a contributor to various publications in the United States and Europe.

Metcalf, a prize-winning journalist, has gained a wide reputation as an interpreter of American foreign policy. He has traveled extensively in the United States, Europe and Latin America covering international conferences for leading publications. His articles from Washington, New York, Europe and Latin America have been syndicated throughout the world.

The convocation is sponsored by the University Convocations Committee and the Student Union Talks and Topics Committee.

Paris History Professor Says Algeria Still Issue

By Walt Switzer

Professor de Bertier de Sauvigny, in Lincoln to present two lectures Friday at the University of Nebraska, said that in spite of the outcome of the recent constitutional elections in France and North Africa, "Algeria continues to be the cause for major concern among Frenchmen."

A professor of modern history at Catholic University of Paris, Father de Sauvigny noted that "it is impossible to forecast the eventual outcome of the disputing between the French and Algerian elements in Algeria."

A visiting professor of history at Notre Dame University, he pointed out that under the new French constitution a weakening of the Communist party in France was hoped for.

He said, "the constitution will allow legislators and candidates more freedom from party control."

"The person who comes into office under the new constitution will be able to vote the way he feels his constituents want him to rather than in the way the party leaders want him to," Father De Sauvigny added.

Speaking of French Premier de Gaulle, the professor commented that the people of France are generally pleased with his strong leadership but, he said, "unfortunately de Gaulle appears to be looking too far back into the past—at Germany."

"Cooperation among the European countries can never reach the strong level it should when a country remains suspicious of those countries it must deal with," he said.

Father de Sauvigny, who speaks fluent English, will lecture on "Contemporary France" at the University.

The lectures will be at 11 a.m. in Love Memorial Auditorium and at 3 p.m., in French, in the Department of Romance Languages.

Mediators Enter N.Y. Newspaper Contract Dispute

New York (AP)—Federal mediators Thursday moved into a contract dispute between the American Newspaper Guild and New York's 7 major daily newspapers. They seek to avert a strike Friday at midnight.

The guild has said it will strike one or two newspapers if the deadline passes without settlement, but hasn't decided yet which ones. The contracts of all 7 papers expire at the same time.

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the guild, said the newspapers to be struck would be selected at the last moment on the basis of their attitude toward reaching a settlement.

The newspapers are the Times, Herald Tribune, Daily News, Mirror, World-Telegram & Sun, Journal American, and Post. The guild represents some 6,200 editorial and commercial employes.

Murphy said the guild's main demands are higher wages, improved pension and welfare benefits, and tightening of "cardinal points" on working conditions. The newspapers all have offered a contract package averaging $5 per employe over a two-year period.

Bargaining will continue Friday.

Earthquake Jolts Frisco Bay Area

San Francisco (UPI) — A fairly strong earthquake jolted the San Francisco Bay area Thursday but there were no reports of serious damage.

The quake shook downtown office buildings and suburban homes. Bottles were knocked out of medicine cabinets in some areas. A Berkeley woman reported her kitchen window broken.

Seismologist Don Tocher at University of California, Berkeley, said the quake lasted 4 minutes. It showed a magnitude of 4.25 on the Richter scale.

Navy Fires Missile 900 Miles Inland

Point Mugu, Calif. (UPI)—The Navy Thursday successfully launched a Regulus II guided missile—the 3rd such inland test from this base—and landed it 900 miles away in an isolated desert area.

There was no advance notice of the controlled flight of the Regulus II, a missile capable of carrying nuclear warheads. It was launched early Thursday from a launching pad at the U. S. Naval Air Missile Test Center here and landed at Antelope Dry Lake, near Tonopah, Nev.

The 1st such inland flight was made last June 5.

The Navy also last month completed a successful Regulus II launching from the submarine Grayback in the Pacific, the only time such a test has been successfully completed.

The Navy announcement said the Regulus II fired Thursday flew out to sea, then returned over uninhabited sections of inland terrain.

It was accompanied by Navy jet planes, the pilots of which could destroy it if it deviated from its controlled flight.

Cardinals Pay Final Homage To Pope John XXIII

From Press Dispatches

Vatican City—The red-robed members of the sacred College of Cardinals Thursday paid their 3rd and final act of homage to Pope John XXIII in traditional solemn ceremonies in the Sistine Chapel.

It was the required fealty of the Cardinals who elected him before the 76-year-old pontiff is crowned Tuesday. The coronation ceremony, which will be climaxed by the placing of the triple-tiered Papal crown on the new pope's head, will begin at 8:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. EST) and the last until around noon (6 a.m. EST), it was announced Thursday.

The pope sent formal invitations Thursday to the Cardinals to attend the coronation ceremonies in St. Peter's Basilica.

Randall Line Okay Comes 'Just In Time'

Columbus, Neb. (UPI) — Final approval of financing for the 230-kilovolt power transmission line between here and Fort Randall Dam came just in time, a Nebraska power leader said Thursday.

D. J. DeBoer, executive director of the Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS) said he felt "we will need the line by the time it can be constructed." He said it "definitely will be needed by 1960 and possibly by the fall of 1959."

The final step in pre-construction arrangements for the line came Thursday in Washington when Rural Electrification Administration officials approved a loan of $4,887,000 to build the 126-mile line and a substation at the Columbus termination. (Story on Page 27.)

Mrs. Ekwall Found Dead

Special to The Star

Blue Springs—A 50-year-old Blue Springs farm woman, Mrs. Cliff Ekwall, was found dead late Thursday in the family automobile in the Ekwall farmyard.

The Gage County sheriff's office ruled the death a suicide. Deputies said a rubber hose had been connected from the exhaust pipe into the car's windoys. They said a note was left, but declined to reveal the contents.

Wymore fireman called to the scene used a resuscitator but failed in their attempts to revive her.

The woman had been alone at the farm and the body was found by her husband when he returned home.

Survivors besides her husband include a son, Rex, a former Holmesville and University of Nebraska athlete. Rex is now stationed with the army at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Funeral services are pending at the Laughlin Funeral Home in Wymore.

Jensen Tells Of Son's Death

as Starkweather's accomplice. The elder Jensen told tearfully how his son left home about 6:45 p.m. Jan. 27 never to return.

He also identified his son's Bennet High School jacket (which was found in the C. Lauer Ward home in Lincoln by police when the bodies of the Wards and their housekeeper were discovered Jan. 29) and a photo of his son's car (which was shown where it was found abandoned in the Ward's garage).

Under cross examination by defense Atty. John McArthur, Jensen said he had once told his son "not to excite any person with a gun, try to do anything they say."

McArthur has indicated he will attempt to prove Caril, as Starkweather's hostage, was too afraid to attempt escape from the 19-year-old killer. He noted in his opening statement that other persons probably believed they could escape, but none did.

Brother Tells Story

Warren King, brother of young Jensen's girl friend, Carol King, told how his sister and Jensen had left his home about 8 p.m. Jan. 27 and were never seen alive again. Both Jensen, and 16-year-old Miss King were found shot to death the next afternoon in a storm cellar east of Bennet.

Dr. E. D. Zeman, Lincoln pathologist, testified an autopsy performed on young Jensen's body revealed the youth died from 6 (.22 caliber) bullets fired into a 4-inch area around Jensen's ear.

Scheele introduced into evidence —over McArthur's objections that they were "inflamatory" — two photos of Jensen's body. One showed the general condition of the body at the hospital and one showed the location of the wounds in the youth's head.

Ruled Proper

Judge Spencer ruled the photos were proper evidence after McArthur had objected to their introduction.

County Engineer Louis Weaver explained two maps made under his direction of the Bennet area, including the storm cellar located at the site of a razed rural school.

Bennet service station operator Ernest Hunt and Dennis Nelson, his former employe, told how Jensen came into the station the evening of Jan. 27 and discussed buying snow tires before he went to pick up Miss King.

ROBERT E. JENSEN... testifies about son's murder.

Pat Boldt of Bennet detailed how he and Ivan Baker, while driving around the Bennet area Jan. 28 searching for the missing Jensen and Miss King, discovered Starkweather's car stuck in the lane leading to the August Meyer farm and said they called the Safety Patrol when they realized whose car it was.

Dep. Sheriff William Johnson was called to testify to the accuracy of the photos of Jensen's body, which were received in evidence over McArthur's objections. Johnson was at the cellar when the bodies were found and later took the photos of the Jensen body at a Lincoln hospital.

Scheele declined to speculate how long it will take him to conclude the state's case. But he said his testimony would take at least through Friday and into Monday.

The trial is expected to last from 2 to 2½ weeks.

'He Deserved It,' Says Wahoo Nobel Prize Winner's Former Teacher

Jackson, Neb.—"It's pretty wonderful, but he deserved it," declared Mrs. J. C. Higgins Thursday after hearing that her former Wahoo High School student, Dr. George W. Beadle, won a Nobel prize for his work on genes.

The former Bess McDonald, Mrs. Higgins has been credited with inspiring Dr. Beadle to attend college and seek a career in science.

"Wahoo will have to put his name up on the entrance to town," Mrs. Higgins stated proudly.

Mrs. Higgins was hired to teach home economics at Wahoo in 1921, but her teaching subjects included science and mathematics. She was in Wahoo for two years, during Dr. Beadle's junior and senior years.

"Although George's father didn't oppose having his son attend college, we had some persuading to do as Mr. Beadle seemed to want George to stay on the farm," the former teacher related.

Not long ago, Dr. Beadle was quoted as saying Mr. Higgins "was one of the best teachers I ever had. Why, if it weren't for her I probably would be farming now.'

The last time Mrs. Higgins and her former student met was while he was attending the University of Nebraska.

Attended Her Wedding

"George attended my wedding in Lincoln in 1923; in fact he was one of the witnesses," Mrs. Higgins fondly recalls.

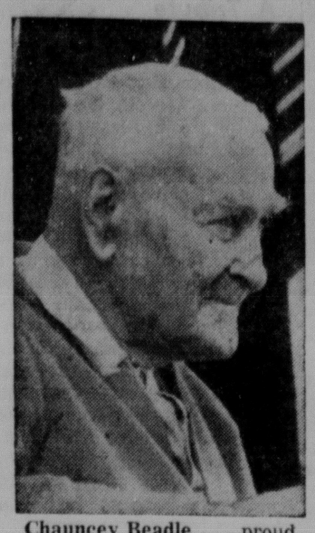
Dr. Beadle's teacher said he not only liked to work, "but he applied himself."

Although he was aided through the university by funds from his mother's estate, he still had to work, Mrs. Higgins said. She also recalled that while a high school student he went out for track and was a popular student. Prior to attending high school, Dr. Beadle attended a country school.

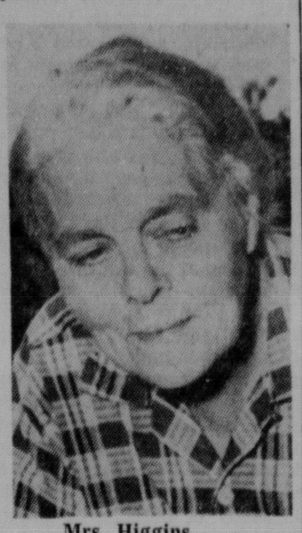
Student Of Dr. Keim

Shortly after young Beadle went to college, his favorite high school science teacher was married to J. C. Higgins, also a teacher. Now the Higgins reside on a 200-acre farm with their daughter, Virginia, and pursue their hobby of beekeeping.

In a recent Time magazine article on Dr. Beadle, he told of studying under the late Dr. Frank D. Keim at NU. Dr. Beadle worked for Dr. Keim during the summers, and when he graduated from college in 1926, Dr. Keim helped him get a graduate assistantship at Cornell.



Chauncey Beadle . . . proud of his son.



Mrs. Higgins . . . favorite teacher.

'His Mother Would Have Been Proud'

. . . Tearful Father Says

Wahoo, Neb.—His mother would have been mighty proud of him, sighed 91-year-old Chauncey Beadle Thursday upon being notified that his son, Dr. George W. Beadle had been awarded a Nobel prize for his research in genetics.

"Sure I'm proud; it's kind of big," said the elder Beadle as he wiped away the tears.

His son last visited him in July.

Mr. Beadle, who refuses to take credit for his son's award gave full credit for his son's success to the late Mrs. Beadle who was with her son only through his 4th birthday.

"It was the great determination he inherited from his mother which has been the big thing in George's life," said the retired farmer, who makes his home in a Wahoo nursing home.

'Mother's Side'

The elder Beadle explained that if heredity was responsible for any of his son's fame, it must have come from his mother's side.

However, Mr. Beadle added "the best place you can raise a boy is on a farm—a farmer has to have determination to survive."

Mr. Beadle chuckled as he recalled George's early interest in all types of animals, remembering especially his son's experiencees with coyotes and opossums he captured as pets.

Besides losing his wife, Mr. Beadle said George's older brother, Alexander, was killed when kicked by a horse at the age of 17. George's sister, Ruth Beadle, lives in Oakland, Calif.

During George's youth the elder Beadle operated a small, progressive farm south of Wahoo, now on Highway 77 and owned by F. J. Cook, Mr. Beadle came to Saunders County after farming near Elkhorn.

Dr. Beadle, educated at the University of Nebraska and Cornell University, became head of the division of biology at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena in 1946 where he displayed new talents in making speeches and raising funds.

Five years ago Dr. Beadle married young and personable Muriel Barnett, a feature writer who still works at her job on the Los Angeles Mirror-News. He legally adopted her teen-age son, Redmond, and all now live in a rambling house near the Caltech campus. Dr. Beadle has a son by his first marriage, and now boasts a grandchild.

NU Professors Pool, Goodding Praise Beadle

"A serious minded student who wanted to learn," is the description Dr. Raymond Pool gave of Dr. George W. Beadle, former Nebraskan and winner of the 1958 Nobel Prize for Medicine.

"He knew what he wanted in life and he set about to prepare himself," said Dr. Pool, former head of the University of Nebraska's Botany Dept. and a teacher of Beadle in 1922-23.

"George Beadle came down to the University of Nebraska from a farm near Wahoo and showed at once that he wanted a higher education," Dr. Pool said.

"He is an excellent example of how a native country school boy can make good in the world of wide research," Pool added.

Another one of Beadle's teachers has similar praise.

"You knew he was going places," Dr. Thomas Goodding former professor of agronomy at the U of N said.

"He wasn't the type of bright student who was a loner but he was well known on the campus," Gooding said.

Beadle Fourth Wahoo 'Great'

Wahoo, Neb.—Dr. George W. Beadle, announced Thursday as a Nobel Prize winner, joins a list of 3 other Wahoo native sons who have achieved national fame. The others:

Darryl Zanuck, movie producer, who holds an honorary University of Nebraska doctorate of humanities.

"Wahoo" Sam Crawford, an oldtime baseball player who is listed on Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Howard Hanson, director of Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., and a top-flight American composer. He received an honorary doctor of music degree from NU in 1935.

Directing The Changes

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In one of the series of articles currently running in The Star, Eleanor Roosevelt discusses a 1953 visit with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. The interview brought forth a statement from this European leader which is of interest and worth consideration by many people.

The Yugoslavia dictator told Mrs. Roosevelt that "Communism really exists nowhere, least of all in the Soviet Union. Communism is an ideal that can be achieved only when people cease to be selfish and greedy and when everyone receives according to his needs from communal production. But that is a long way off." In a sense, the statement is a little like the saying about the forest and the trees. He might have added that people are often confused over terms or slogans and thus fail to catch the real meaning of things.

Never-Never Land

In this country, people make a greal deal over the term "democracy." We pride ourselves on our capitalistic system which has given us a standard of living unexcelled anywhere in the world. But it should be remembered that it is the people of a land who make it what it is, not necessarily the tools they work with.

Our people are born and raised in an atmosphere of freedom. A man is limited in the United States only by his own ability to succeed. We are taught to jealously guard our free elections and constitutional rights.

But democracy or capitalism or whatever you want to call it has no self-contained guarantees of justice or equality. Times change and influences change to such an extent from year to year that constant adjustments must be made. It is not safe to take for granted that because our Constitution guarantees our freedom, we are safe from tyranny.

There are forces always working against the free man. There are politically ambitious people who seek nothing but their own glorification and the satisfaction of their own desires. The world of politics is full of special interests which have their own welfare far out in front of the general welfare of the nation.

For instance, it is not inconceivable that our nation could fall into the hands of tyrants and dictators. It would take only the right man in the presidency coupled with a weak Congress.

A weak Congress could be secured in many ways as there are many kinds of weaknesses.

Financial insecurity on the part of public officials is a breeding place for weakness. Combine that with a lack of integrity and you have a man most susceptible to undue influence. Failure to hold public officials accountable for their actions can result in weakness.

This could be nothing more than a general public which was uninformed on and uninterested in the affairs of government. And the danger of these things is even made greater by the fact that their discovery would not likely be made in time to deal effectively with them. Thus, it is important that people realize that Communism in itself or any other form of government is nothing more than a statement of principles or perhaps objectives. What really counts is the way in which people execute this form of government.

A Plan For Government

The more execution of government falls into the hands of a few individuals, the more is the chance for abuse. Little, if anything, in today's society is so fixed that it cannot be materially changed. It is up to all the people, not just a few public officials, to see to it that the changes are made for the better.

Credit Where It Is Due

Nebraska owes nothing to its congressional delegation and a great deal to its major public power agencies and especially its rural electrification districts for the successful salvage operation that finally made a reality out of the long sought 230 Kilovolt transmission line from the Fort Randall dam in the Missouri Basin.

The Rural Electricification Administration in Washington this week gave its approval to a loan of $4,887,000 which will enable the Nebraska Generation and Transmission Co-operative to construct the line from the Dakota border to Columbus.

It will mean 60 thousand kilowatts, or more, every year from the Basin power reservoir under a financing and general cost program that will provide the best available answer for Nebraska's steadily growing power demand. The loan was preceded by wholesome interagency agreements which themselves give promise of an indefinitely long period of good relationships and mutual benefits. There seems now to be few if any obstructions along the path of early development and maximum enjoyment of the benefits of the project.

But any general thankfulness over the bright event should not be extended to members of the state's congressional delegation who are laying claim to credit. This is the transmission line which was three times rejected in Congress in as many recent sessions and caused public power friends in the Congress to reject the overtures of the Nebraska representatives. It was over this line that Rep. Kirwan, of Ohio, commented that the Nebraska delegation fights public power with all its power and then when home pressures grow too intense ask their public power colleagues to get them off the hook. An examination of the record of the Nebraskans validates the indictment.

Taming The Blue

A stimulating image of things to come was portrayed in the report from the Denver office of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to the effect that irrigation projects along the Little Blue river in southeast Nebraska are feasible.

The report stated that an earth fill dam in the vicinity of Angus would be sufficient for effective flood control while providing for the irrigation of 24,000 extremely fertile but presently dryland acres. The price tag was estimated at $32 million.

The Little Blue valley courses through Nuckolls, Thayer and Jefferson counties before it enters Kansas where it joins the Big Blue river on their joint journey to a confluence with the Kansas river at Manhattan. And with the Big Blue, while pursuing a generally parallel northwest course into central Nebraska, it forms a river system which in times of tranquility gives the state one of its beautiful regions and in times of flood one of its heartaches. Like other eastern Nebraska rivers the Little Blue has gone untamed over the years. The naturally productive area, accustomed to adequate rainfall and crop averages which for years outdistanced the more arid sections felt little urge to irrigate and learned to live with destructive floods.

But recent years have shifted the balance of productivity to irrigated sections, while lower farm prices are challenging the wellbeing of the one time granary of Nebraska.

In the current race for survival intensive agriculture may be the decisive factor. In view of this, favorable feasibility reports in respect to flood control and water conservation are of deep importance.

Challenge For Nebraska

The fact that research has become a vital and integral part of all universities was left without doubt in remarks made to the Association of American Universities by Dean John D. Weaver of the University of Nebraska's Graduate College. Dr. Weaver directed his remarks primarily to the role of the federal government in this research and the effects of federal aid.

Federal aid was not opposed by Dr. Weaver as a principle but he did point out areas of caution such as the temptation of institutions and faculty members to overextend themselves in the pursuit of this money. He also warned that the universities must guard against the over-emphasis of one phase of the institution's work as opposed to another part just for the sake of federal aid.

In other parts of his address to the association, Dr. Weaver touches the edges of the financial problem presented to such schools at the University of Nebraska by the growth in university research. This growth is placing a premium on the best men in the teaching field as well as a premium on facilities. To take part in these research programs, an institution must have the faculty, the graduate school and the facilities needed to carry out the research.

The situation, in all respects, is becoming more and more competitive. This means Nebraska will continue to face the problem of salaries high enough to retain its best faculty members and funds enough to provide an adequate physical plant. It means that the university budget is going to be just as big a problem in the immediate years ahead as it has been in the past. It means Nebraskans will be called upon to decide whether they want a first-rate university or just another school. If they want to go first-class, they are going to have to be willing to pay the bill.

Fair Is Over

The Brussels world fair is over. Autumn's breezes are sending bits of old paper and other flotsam down the exposition's avenues which so short a time ago were filled with people. The life has gone out of the majestic scene. Belgium is totalling up its summer's receipts and wondering what to do with its legacy of ornate buildings.

But somehow the fair isn't dead. Like a lily in a storm, it raised its stalk and flowered in the name of peace and human progress. If it achieved nothing else it proved that there is a constructive side to this modern world in which all nations, friend or enemy, are making a contribution. That theme will bear consideration for it is a great and hopeful sign.

"Did I Hear Somebody Knock?"

DREW PEARSON

Representative A Non Representative

WASHINGTON — One of the best ways to measure the quality of any congressman is to study the people who put up the money for his campaign. This is why candidates are required by law to list their campaign contributors. If a candidate gets labor contributions you can be pretty sure he'll vote for labor. If he gets heavy business contributions he's likely to vote for big business.

Sometimes you'll run across a man who represents a farm-labor area, yet is voting constantly for big business. Usually campaign contributions are the reason.

Take the case of mousy, inconspicuous Congressman Edward T. Miller, Republican, who represents the eastern shore of Maryland, that flat long peninsula between Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean famous for its crabs, tomatoes, peaches, canning factories, and bathing beaches.

Ordinarily the congressman from this area would be voting for the farmer and for the little fellow. Plenty of men have been out of work, and long lines applying for relief stood outside the Salisbury, Md., unemployment office last winter and spring.

However, Miller has an almost 100 per cent record of voting against legislation to benefit the farmer. He also opposed a plan to distribute surplus farm products to needy families, and against a bill granting loans to build marketing facilities for perishable farm products. Yet his eastern shore of Maryland grows highly perishable farm products.

Miller also voted against the Eisenhower aid to scientific education, against public housing, against area redevelopment, but for the rivers and harbors pork barrel bill and for subsidies for airlines and federal loans to railroads.

☆ ☆ ☆

If you look at the list of Miller's contributors at this last election, you may get some idea of why he votes this way.

One of his big contributors, $500, is Donaldson Brown, former vice president of General Motors, now a director of Du Pont. Mrs. Brown gave $250.

Another heavy contributor was the Pew family of Philadelphia—though they don't live in Miller's state. The Pews, who own the Sun Oil Company, Sun Shipbuilding and various other big corporations, gave $750.

Another juicy contribution came from Amory Houghton, head of Corning Glass in New York, who reached all the way across the Atlantic from his post as American ambassador to France to give this inconspicuous congressman $1,000.

DORIS FLEESON

Not Much Help From The Cabinet

WASHINGTON — An unusual aspect of this year's campaign is that Republicans have gotten so little political mileage out of their President's 10-man cabinet. Vice-President Richard M. Nixon made his justifiable gripe openly; it is said even to have dawned on Mr. Eisenhower that some of his aides were keeping a rather long distance between themselves and the sordid details of winning control of Congress.

After all the facts, the explanations and the scuttlebutt are shuffled and dealt, face up, the overriding impression is one of an utter lack of political direction at the White House. Each department head has played it by ear and made his own plans; the celebrated teamwork apparently did not apply.

The result has been that reporters inspecting the grass roots discovered the spoor of only three cabinet members in any quantity.

Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska safely took for his province the wide open spaces which benefit from Interior's bounty. He has made full-dress speeches and shaken hands; he has worn his dinner jacket for the fat cats and Indian war bonnets for more humble voters.

The boldest campaigner has been Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, who has refused to be deterred by storm nor night nor those Republican congressmen who besought the President to fire him so they could keep their seats. Benson's visits to consumer and business districts may have helped. But it is a rare farming area which likes him, even though the farmers may be doing well.

The exception is Utah, his home state. There his stature as a Mormon churchman may be the thing that will pull Senator Arthur Watkins through despite former Governor Bracken Lee's siren song about no income taxes.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who has stature as a labor expert and is a leading Catholic layman, has worked hard in the right-to-work campaign. His efforts have in part been overshadowed, even nullified, by the lengths to which so many Republicans are going to rebuff labor. Open GOP support for right-to-work laws is not confined to Senator William F. Knowland of California; from coast to coast, the party holds up Walter Reuther as a bogeyman.

Mitchell opposes right-to-work laws, and he has never picked on an honest labor leader. He would never have approved the President's remarks about the need to "fumigate" the labor movement obviously he was not consulted.

Like foreign policy itself, the secretary of state theoretically should be kept out of the campaign. Since he is almost invariably unpopular, the politicians are generally content to have it so, and John Foster Dulles belongs in this category.

What is interesting are the far-flung travels the secretary of Defense, Neil McElroy, and the secretary of the Treasury, Robert Anderson, elected to make. They are currently holding out helping hands to Asians, not Republicans, though both have been mentioned as possible GOP candiates for the presidency.

Street Needs

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The first reaction of the average Lincolnite at mention of the words "wheel tax" seems to be "let's have no additional taxes." He is thinking primarily, I believe, of property taxes and in that thought I couldn't agree with him more.

But he will, in the second breath, agree that we could stand for quite a bit of street modernization and improvement.

It seems to me that the following points are worthy of consideration:

(1) A sewer use tax was imposed upon us by the City Council. But a reduction in the mill levy for the Sanitary District was made at the same time, and the move was necessary so we could secure funds to stop the dumping of raw sewage into Dead Man's Run and Salt Creek.

(2) An attempt to impose a wheel tax by ordinance was overturned because some thought the division of charges was unfair between cars and trucks and because many thought they should have the opportunity to vote on the matter. The new proposal on the November 4 ballot gives us our opportunity to vote and sets up a schedule of charges which seem much more fair. It goes further than that. It provides that all of the funds collected under this ordinance must be used only for street improvement purposes.

I feel that if there is anything Lincoln needs right now, it is to attract a new industry or payroll to cushion our losses of the past two years. And that a modern street system is our most glaring defect in measuring our attractiveness. Churches, schools, business districts, recreational facilities and housing are all top-flight — but our street system is 10 years behind.

Now we must decide. I respectfully submit that a vote against the proposed wheel tax ordinance would be a little like cutting off our nose to spite our face, but that a vote FOR would——insure the orderly growth and development of our city.

—prevent the loss of $500,000 of federal matching funds.

—help attract new industry.

The Wheel Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The positive constructive action of the committee of citizens that has by initiative petition submitted a revised city wheel tax ordinance to popular vote on November 4 is highly commendable and gratifying. It stands out in marked contrast to that of a number of carping critics and chronic "lernninsters" and obstructionists. And it proves that civic spirit and a willingness to recognize and try to meet the new needs of our rapidly growing and changing city are not entirely dead, after all. The proposed ordinance should receive the overwhelming approval of all civic-minded voters who take pride in our city's development.

Every informed citizen knows that it costs money to fill chuck holes and make other street repairs and improvements. A good part but not all of this cost can be secured from state and federal sources. However, the city must and rightly should provide the major part of this cost. The city can do this only in one of two ways, either by increasing the tax levy on property or by a wheel tax. The wheel tax has been chosen as the more equitable, just and fair way of raising city funds necessary for street improvement. The property owner, particularly the small home owner, is already too heavily taxed to be made to pay an increased tax for street maintenance whether he owns a motor vehicle or not. After the abutting property has once paid for paving the streets, the owners of motor vehicles should be required to pay for the wear and damage they cause, not the property owners.

The wheel tax is strictly in line with the best and most approved modern thought and practice for meeting the expense of street maintenance and repair.

Enjoys Bingo

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I just cannot understand the attitude of the churches and people on bingo. During the war I volunteered my services to the Red Cross, Veterans Hospital, hospitals for older folks and children, and visited sick people and older people and the families of servicemen. From all my experience, bingo to me is a clean game. It was the favorite game for older folks, easy to play and it kept them alert. It was a good game in the hospitals, educational for children, and played at the U.S.O. It wasn't used to gamble, as cards are. The V.F.W. folks who didn't dance or play cards played bingo.

I doubt very much if it has a place in private organizations and lodges, but cards and dice are there and women as well as men play cards to gamble all over Lincoln. Many of the church groups play cards and bet on horse races.

Why take a game like bingo away from the ones who enjoy a game that is easy to play? It is used at parties as the game for prizes. Is it any worse than a page of quiz questions to answer for a prize? To me, it's all the same. Cards, dice, and horseracing are really gambling.

Let's think before we condemn bingo.

Political Thoughts

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the race two years ago between Mr. Brock and Mr. Harrison, Brock led by a nice margin. Then came the absentee mail count. How I would like to have been in on the count! It beats me — how could it just happen that there were so many necessary votes like that?

I was impressed by Terry Carpenter's Monday evening TV talk. He is a fighter for what he believes in . . . When one listens to Hruska, he has the feeling he is talking from panic. He and Nixon both can talk longer and say less than anyone I know. If Hruska is so proud of his voting record, why doesn't he talk about it and let us know the reasons for his votes? According to Drew Pearson he has never argued an issue in Congress, but is a "busy man" back of the scenes.

One more item. The next Congress will undoubtedly vote on a federal sales tax, so let's watch to see whom we send to represent us. This tax gets the little fellow, while the income tax is on the upper bracket. What a relief it will be to them if a sales tax is passed.

The Helper

Alexandria, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Now is the second anniversary of the Hungarian revolution, the time when Hungarians were looking hopefully toward us who talked so much of freedom, and the Communists looked toward us in fear lest we intervene. Dulles publicly promised no interference from us and Khrushchev moved in and slaughtered those who dared defy the enslaver.

Mao and his fellow Communists operate another huge slave camp in China. Mao & Co. shell free Quemoy. Do they risk reprisal? Not any more. Dulles tells the world that the United States will "not tolerate attacks against the Chinese Communists." Again, Dulles to the rescue.

And then this man predicts that the Communists are gradually going to put more emphasis on the well-being of their peoples at home and less on expansion. What could be better calculated to put us to sleep?

In all the free world, have the Communists a helper equal to Dulles?

A Tribute

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Early Wednesday morning Lincoln lost one of its small businessmen who offered services that most take for granted. Bill Vavoulas operated a refreshment stand on North 27th near Vine, staying open until one o'clock in the morning. This gave both young and old the opportunity to obtain popcorn, ice cream and the other little items that express the side of our American way of life we enjoy so much. As the city would tuck itself to sleep for the night, the two glowing lights in front of his stand would serve as beacons to those having last-minute needs.

Bill came to this country from Greece as a young man and never failed in his right to vote after he was naturalized. His is a true example of the heritage from which our country has grown. With his untimely passing, many Lincolnites will miss the friendly wave and smile for anyone driving by.

Minsk And Pinsk

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The AEC and the Defense Department have advocated the continuation of nuclear explosions for peaceful purposes. Paradoxically, it was the late Andrei Vishinsky who first spoke of nuclear blasts which had been used "to move mountains and change the course of rivers." I remember it was near a Siberian village named Pinsk—but I may be wrong about the geography. Many of us scoffed at his claim at that time.

This reminds me of a story which a friend told in this connection.

A peddler from the East met a peddler from the West—at that time—and asked him: "Where are you going from here?"

The fellow from the West said: "I am going to Minsk." (There are no mountains and rivers at Minsk.)

The peddler from the East was quite outraged.

"Why do you say you are going to Minsk to make me believe you are going to Pinsk when you are actually going to Minsk?"

Attempted Magic

Blair, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Nixon-Eisenhower-Alcorn entourage of political hucksters have aped almost every promotional idea the Democratic party ever originated, plus adding the divide-and-conquer tactics of the "devout old generals" and spiced these up with the interjection of hate-mongering tactics of the old Fascist regimes in their desperate efforts to keep Republican Big Business at the helm of state.

Now Mr. Nixon would even try to pull a Harry Truman 1948 upset out of his bag of tricks. The major newspapers would co-operate by repeating the Big Lie technique being used by Nixon who would have the bandwagon riders believe that the surge towards the Democrats has been stopped at the eleventh hour.

Mr. Nixon was never more wrong and will be thoroughly repudiated, come November 4. It is not at all unlikely that Nebraska will be some part of the inevitable Democratic surge.

Johnson Tosses Radicalism Charge Back At GOP

By The Associated Press

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) threw the Republicans' charge of political radicalism right back at them.

Vice President Richard Nixon proclaimed meanwhile that the GOP's election chances are the best in years. The Democrats are "stumbling toward the finish line," he said.

And Democrat Adlai Stevenson said the 6 years of the Eisenhower administration have brought the country one crisis after another.

These leading partisans in the campaign culminating with next Tuesday's elections spoke out anew while President Eisenhower prepared to deliver a nationwide TV-radio speech from Baltimore Friday night at 8 p.m. CST.

Eisenhower's speech will wind up the campaign so far as he is concerned, except for a trip he and Mrs. Eisenhower will make to Gettysburg Tuesday to vote. They will return to the White House to hear the election returns.

Last 2 Years

The big question is whether Eisenhower will have a Democratic or Republican Congress to work with in the last two years of his term.

Sen. Johnson, the No. 1 Democrat in the Senate, discussed the radicalism charge in a speech prepared for a Democratic dinner in Indianapolis.

"If the Democratic party is guilty of 'political radicalism,"' Johnson said, "then President Eisenhower and his administration have acquiesced in 'political radicalism' for 6 years—during two of which there were Republican majorities in Congress."

Johnson said Eisenhower has not asked for the repeal of any law passed under Democratic auspices in the 20 years preceding his inauguration.

Vice President Nixon was campaigning again through the Middle West, at Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Wichita, Kan.

Pitching his arguments to the farmers, Nixon said at Fort Dodge:

"All the campaign oratory in the world cannot obscure the fact that in the 20 years of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, there was never prosperity on the farm except in war or as a result of war."

Surpluses

He said farmers haven't done as well financially as others in the last several years because mountainous surpluses of farm products have held prices down.

But now, he said, there has been a record gross farm income of $13,800,000,000 in the first half of 1958, and inflation in farmers' costs has been halted.

These were two of the reasons he gave for saying that Republican chances in next week's elections are the best in years.

At Wichita, Nixon bore down on the theme that the Democrats have run out of gas and "have nothing left but hot air."

In his speech, the Vice President called on GOP workers to "pour it on all over the country" and said what happens in the last 5 days before the elections will decide many key races.

Stevenson made his political appeal in Chicago, where he was nominated for the presidency by the Democrats in 1952 and 1956.

Reassuring

He said that during all these recent years of crisis, as he called them, "the White House has been reassuring America that all was well at home and abroad."

Stevenson said that there has been a void "left by the failure of White House leadership."

Meanwhile, other partisans kept their statement-printing machines rolling.

In two statements, chairman Meade Alcorn of the GOP National Committee and Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic Committee, accused each other's party of disregard for civil rights.

These statements, boiled down, said:

Alcorn—"We had 20 years of nothing in the field of civil rights when Democrats controlled both the Congress and the White House."

Butler — "The Republican party has a long and public record of callous duplicity on human rights."

In yet another statement, the organization Americans for Democratic Action pleaded with "independent liberal voters in the North and West" to support Democratic candidates.

An exciting new kind of car!

Makes history by making sense

The car you hoped would happen! Looks right, works right. Priced right. Luxurious without overdoing it. Roomy without useless length. Powerful without hogging gas. Styled to last. Soundly engineered. Solidly built. Priced with the most popular three!

Add it up. You get solid new distinction rivaled only by cars costing much more! Bold new vertical grille. Strong new lines. Graceful new rear flight deck.

You get new efficiency. Wonderfully spacious interiors—with less length outside. Edsel's trim 120-inch wheelbase fits any normal garage, swings easily in and out of tight spots.

You get lots of go for little gas. Pounds of useless car weight are gone. And four new Edsel engines are here! Including a thrifty but powerful six. And a new kind of economy V-8 that uses regular fuel and wrings big mileage from every ounce!

You get all the quality that marks a superior car. Super-smooth ride. Self-adjusting brakes. Luxurious carpeting, electric clock and four other customary "extras"—at no extra cost.

Yet the challenging new 1959 Edsel is priced with the most popular three! For example, you'll find that a new Edsel Ranger is priced almost exactly the same as many models of Chevrolet, Plymouth and Ford. See for yourself—this comparison is actually based on the factory suggested list prices.

It's easy to see why this is the car that makes history by making sense. The new kind of car you've been waiting for. Now at your Edsel Dealer. Ten history-making models!

Prosecution Winds Up In 'Grease Trap' Case

Ft. Jackson, S.C. (AP)—The government rested its case Thursday in the general court-martial of a young Army officer charged in connection with the "grease trap" episodes at this infantry training base.

First Lt. Gerald L. Wheatly, 23, of Bridgeton, N. J., pleaded innocent to 3 charges of assault and battery, two of conduct unbecoming an officer and one charge of maltreating recruits.

The defense managed to get one witness before the court-martial board before it recessed until Friday morning.

Wheatley's counsel read into the record 3 Army efficiency reports on the young officer. These described him as a "courteous, considerate and aggressive officer" who showed "great willingness to accept responsibility."

'End Of World'

Earlier, however, a young trainee—William A. Frisby of Asheville, N. C.—testified for the prosecution that he thought "the world had come to an end" when he and other fledgling soldiers first joined the recruit company commanded by Wheatley.

Frisby said sergeants under Wheatley's command "pulled us off trucks and started cussing and kicking us."

The State Railway Commission has authorized Railway Express Agency, Inc., to discontinue services in 8 Nebraska communities: Holstein, Norman, Clay Center, Huntley, Ragan, Wilcox, Sarben, and Roseland.

The commission set a Dec. 4 public hearing in the court house at North Platte on the application of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad for authority to discontinue station service at Wellfleet.

Hearings will be held Dec. 1 in the court house at Minden on the application of the same railroad for authority to discontinue station service at Upland.

Rising City Couple Hurt In Car Wreck

A Rising City couple was admitted to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for observaton early Thursday night after the car in which they were riding left the road on an overpass west of Emerald.

Martin H. Schroeder, 32, and his wife, Mary Ann, 27, were not thought to be seriously injured, the Safety Patrol said.

Cause of the accident was not apparent, the Patrol said.

High Court Asked To Back News Source Secrecy

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court was asked to declare newspaper reporters have a constitutional right to refuse to reveal news sources.

The request was made in an appeal filed on behalf of television columnist Marie Torre of the New York Herald Tribune. She was sentenced to 10 days in jail for refusing to divulge the source of a story she wrote about singer Judy Garland.

Miss Torre based her defense on the Constitution's 1st Amendment which guarantees freedom of the press. She contended the amendment gave her the right to decline to disclose the name of a Columbia Broadcasting System executive who assertedly was the source of information for the story about Miss Garland.

"At stake is the public's right to know the news—and the press freedom to gather it," the appeal to the supreme Court said. "This case presents a question of vital importance to every newspaper in the United States . . . .

Willingness

"Unless reversed by this (Supreme) Court, the decision below will have an immediate effect on the willingness of news sources to transmit news in confidence to reporters and news media. It will lend aid to any forces seeking to choke off the flow of news to news media.

Federal District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan of New York imposed the sentence on Miss Torre after expressing sympathy for her. He ruled, however, that her position was improperly taken. Miss Torre then was released on her own recognizance.

Later the U.S. Circuit Court in New York upheld the contempt conviction of Miss Torre. An opinion by Judge Potter Stewart (now a Supreme Court justice) declared, "the concept that it is the duty of a witness to testify in a court of laws has roots as deep as does the guarantee of a free press."

75,000 TO SHARE IN NU HOMECOMING

The University of Nebraska annual Homecoming is expected to attract 75,000 Nebraskans to share in the celebration.

The major events are:

House decoration displays, expected to be seen Friday evening by 30,000 visitors.

Saturday morning parade through downtown Lincoln, featuring 30 floats and to be witnessed by 10,000 spectators.

Alumni Assn. luncheon at the Cornhusker Hotel, Saturday noon.

Nebraska-Missouri football game, with crowning of the Homecoming Queen, with nearly 35,000 spectators in the stadium.

Homecoming Dance at Pershing Memorial Auditorium, Saturday evening.

Beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, the lights will be turned on the 35 Homecoming displays. Visitors in cars are asked by Lincoln Police Department to enter the area at 17th and R street. From there, all traffic will proceed west to 14th, north to S street, east to 16th and then north to Vine. The displays will be turned off at 10:30 p.m.

The Saturday morning parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. at 14th and Vine. The route is east to 16th; south to O; west to 11th; north to R; east to 12th, where the units will disband. Besides the floats, the University Band and ROTC Drill Units will participate.

Progress Report

At the Saturday noon luncheon, Chancellor C. M. Hardin will deliver a progress report on the drive to raise funds for the proposed $2.6 million Kellogg enter. The buffet luncheon will be held 11:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m.

One of 5 Homecoming Queen finalists will be revealed as the winner at the half-time ceremonies of the Nebraska-Missouri football game, which begins at 2 p.m. Saturday. The finalists are: Sharon Fangman of Omaha; Helen Hockabout of Omaha; Jolaine Loseke of Columbus; Jane Savener of Wymore; and Sondra Whalen of Lincoln.

The concluding event of the week-end program will be the Homecoming Dance beginning at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. During the dance, the winners of the House and parade float decorations will be announced.

American Labor Movement 'Authentic Expression Of Working Man's Needs'

By David Clark

"The American labor movement was not created, did not grow, and could not survive another minute if it was not the authentic expression of the needs and desires of the working people of this country," A. J. Hayes, vice president of AFL-CIO, said Thursday night.

Speaking at the fourth annual labor banquet, Hayes told an overflow crowd of 450 persons that many economists believe the wages of organized labor provided the stabilizing force needed in the recession to offset the government's "incredible inertia and indecision."

"This contribution," Hayes said, "is one that editors, publishers and news commentators have studiously ignored. While organized labor has been fighting off a national depression they, and many politicians, have been searching for an issue that would draw public attention away from the recession, high prices, high taxes, war scares and Sherman Adams."

Hayes said the issue the press has come up with to draw public attention from government ineptness is labor corruption.

Union Leaders Meet

"The basis for the issue is the fact that after several years of concerted effort Congress has succeeded in tagging a number of union crooks," Hayes said.

"I say that any group in American life, bar none, could be discredited, blackened and made to appear corrupt if a series of Congressional committees spent 5 years digging up, for public inspection, every crook they could find," he continued.

Hayes, who also is president of the International Association of Machinists, directed his remarks to farmers and the clergy, both of which were represented by guests groups at the banquet.

Lack of support from those groups, Hayes said, is the result of lack of understanding.

"For some reason," he said, "many farmers have been taken in by the big city press and have been made to believe that organized city workers are their worst enemies."

'Best Customers'

Many farmers believe that union wages are the cause of high prices the farmers must pay for city-made goods, Hayes said. The truth, he added, is that city workers are the farmers' best customers.

"I believe the church must work more closely with labor as well as with other groups and organizations for the common good," Hayes said.

In a press conference before the banquet, Hayes said, "Too many of the public who know very little of the movement of organized labor have come to accept the Hoffas and Becks as symbolical."

"Fifty-two trade union officers may be guilty of some corruption," Hayes said Congressional studies show.

"If this is true, the total is a fraction of 1% of the 435,000 labor officers," he said Corruption in the medical profession, he said, has been estimated as high as 5%.

Toastmaster for the banquet, held at the Cornhusker, was Dr. Frank Court of St. Paul Methodist Church. Special guests were Mayor Bennett Martin; A. C. Eichberg, representative of Gov. Anderson; Clifford Hardin, chancellor of the University of Nebraska; Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt; and members of the city council. Dr. Leland Lesher of Grace Lutheran Church gave the invocation.

The banquet was sponsored by the Nebraska Central Labor Committee.

Shotgunned Man Pleads Innocent

Donald E. Schernikau of 405 So. 26th pleaded innocent Thursday in Municipal Court to a trespassing charge.

Schernikau, 23, is charged in connection with a Monday night shooting incident in the 200 block on So. 26th. He told police he was shot while walking behind houses in the area. He was treated at a local hospital for a back wound.

A resident of the area said he fired his shotgun at a prowler.

Schernikau, who reported to a hospital for treatment shortly after the man had fired at what he said was a prowler, will be tried before Judge Richard O. Johnson Nov. 5. He posted $25 appearance bond.

Car-Pedestrian Mishap Injures Louis Cropp

Louis Cropp, 74, of 919 No. 23rd, was held for observation at a local hospital Thursday evening following a car-pedestrian accident at 23rd and Q.

Cropp suffered cuts and bruises in the accident.

Driver of the car was William A. Fry 46, of 3725 Randolph.

So. American Missionaries To Talk Here

VOTE FOR NUMBER 6

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Voters of Nebraska

On November 4th the people of Nebraska will elect the three members of the Nebraska Board of Pardons and Parole.

On the basis of over 20 years of experience in the field of delinquency and correction, 16 of these directly associated with parole boards and over 8 of them in association with the Nebraska Board of Pardons and Parole, I am herewith listing, for your consideration, my personal recommendations for the membership of our Nebraska Board of Pardons and Parole:

FRANK MARSH

For Secretary of the Board (and Secretary of State)

CLARENCE S. BECK

For Member of the Board (and Attorney General)

Mr. Marsh and Mr. Beck are the two best Parole Board Members I have seen in my 16 years of experience with Parole Authorities. They have been consistently objective, have never been swayed by political pressure, and they have decided each case on its merits in relation to the best interests of the State of Nebraska.

RALPH BROOKS

For Chairman of the Board (and Governor)

Mr. Brooks has had training in both Law and Education. This would particularly fit him for membership on this Board, where the analysis of human behaviour and human relationships, within the legal framework of our statutes, is the basic responsibility. The present Chairman (and Governor) is unqualified in both respects. Of all the parole Board members I have observed in my 16 years of direct experience with such bodies, I consider him the least qualified, by temperament and training, and the poorest example, in actual practice, of any I have seen.

Russ Agree To Secrecy At Geneva

. . . Talk Hopes Rise

Geneva (UPI) — Russia raised western hopes for serious negotiations at the nuclear conference Thursday by agreeing to keep the talks secret.

U. S. sources said the agreement appeared to be a good omen for the conference opening Friday, and indicated the Soviets had come to Geneva to do business rather than launch new propaganda blasts against the West.

Delegates from Russia, Britain and the United States will open the first formal session at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EST) in the marble Palais des Nations. Their purpose will be the negotiations of a pact to ban further nuclear weapons tests. The West also wants a fool-proof system for policing the ban.

Secret

In a preliminary meeting Thursday, Britain and the United States proposed that the formal talks be kept strictly secret. The Russians concurred without argument.

"The conditions at the outset of the conference look good," one U. S. source said.

Lincolnites To State Cancer Society Board

The Nebraska Division of the American Cancer Society has named 4 Lincolnites to its Board of Directors.

They are Mrs. Robert H. Ammon of 1261 Fall Creek Road, L. I. Wright of 3320 So. 30th, Dr. Robert A. Hillyer of 3055 Sheridan Blvd., and Dr. John T. McGreer of 2490 Garden Road.

Wright was also named to the executive committee of the board.

Mrs. Ammon served as secretary of the Lancaster county ACS Unit for 4 years and was a member of the executive committee of the Lancaster County board for two years.

Wright has been a member of the Nebraska Division Board of Directors for the past two years and served as Crusade chairman for Lancaster County in 1958. He was recently elected president of the Lancaster County ACS Unit for the coming year.

Dr. McGreer has been active in cancer work as a radiologist for 24 years and has been associated with the Nebraska Division of the Cancer Society for the last 4 years. Dr. Hillyer has been on the Lancaster county Unit Board of Directors for the last 3 years and was an ACS Fellow for cancer and allied diseases in 1947 and 1948.

Local Appliance Dealer Cole Dies

James Earl Cole, 52, of 2040 South, manager of the Frigid Service and Appliance Center, died Thursday.

Born in Osceola, Neb., Mr. Cole came to Lincoln in 1927.

He was active in both the Senior and Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was also a member of the Sertoma Club and the Better Business Bureau and served on the boards of these organizations.

Mr. Cole was chairman of the education department at the Tabernacle Christian Church of which he was a member. He also was a member of the Baream Class.

Survivors include his wife, Blanche; son, Lloyd and daughter, Mary both at home; brother, Maurice of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. Maxine Ott of Nebraska City.

Wesleyan Band Plans Big Show

The Wesleyan University marching band—100 strong—will present its top entertainment feature of the fall season between halves of the Wesleyan-Concordia football homecoming game Friday night.

Led by Drum Major Lynn Miller Kearney, and fronted by 8 letter-sweater girls and 8 majorettes, the band will present 71 years of musical trends using moving props and band members within a magazine cover arrangement.

To cover the trends or "fads" on college campuses in this span of years, the band wil feature "Ta Ra Ra Boom De A Can Can," "Everybody's Doin' It," "The Charleston," "The Jitterbug," and an "Elvis Presley Routine," according to Director Byron Havlicek.

Peter Pan

London (AP)—Sarah Churchhill, 44-year-old daughter of Sir Winston, will play the highly coveted role of Peter Pan in London this Christmas time. Last year the part went to Margaret Lockwood. Miss Churchill will be the 32nd Peter Pan since the original 1904 production of Barrie's fantasy. Notable among them have been Maude Adams and Mary Martin.

Lodge License Suspended At South Sioux City

The Nebraska Liquor Control Commission has suspended for a 30-day period the retail beer license of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie No. 2492, of South Sioux City.

The Commission said the licensee entered in writing a waiver of public hearing and a plea of guilty to charges of allowing gambling to take place in the Eagles meeting hall.

The licensee failed to observe in good faith the intent and purpose of the Nebraska Liquor Control Act, the commission said.

The commission also ordered that the retail beer license of Harold P. Savidge, Oakdale, be revoked, annulled and cancelled.

Savidge was charged by the commission with filing a license application on which he listed his home address as Oakdale in Antelope County, when in actuality it was in Ewing in Holt County.

The Commission said Savidge waived public hearing and entered a guilty plea to the charges.

Visit To The Soviet Union:

ON MY OWN

By Eleanor Roosevelt

(This is the eleventh of a series of twelve articles based on the book, "On My Own — The Years Since the White House," by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, published by Harper & Brothers, New York.)

My trip to the Soviet Union was certainly, to me, one of the most important, the most interesting and the most informative that I ever made. I tried to understand what was happening in Russia by looking at the country through Russian eyes, and unless all of us in the free world approach the Soviet Union from that point of view we are going to deceive ourselves in a catastrophic manner.

I looked at Russians and was rather frightened. My fear was not of the Communist power or philosophy, not of awesome missiles or hydrogen bombs. What I feared was that we would not understand the nature of the Russian revolution that is still going on and what it means to the world.

The most important things I learned about the Soviet Union—and the things that may be most difficult for democratic peoples everywhere to comprehend — came to a focus when I visited the city of Leningrad, formerly, of course, the St. Petersburg of the czars. I had been absorbing various ideas from the time I landed in Moscow and was gradually approaching certain conclusions on the basis of what I had seen and heard. But it was at the Leningrad medical school, which puts great emphasis on pediatrics, that I believed I really saw what was happening in Russia and what this may mean in the world-wide struggle between Communism and democracy.

Mrs. Roosevelt

The Conditioned Reflex

We drove to the institute. Inside it was spotless and, even though there were many walls of wooden panels, everything was glisteningly clean.

The nursery was well equipped. While the head teacher and several doctors watched with me, one of the nurses—a solid friendly young woman in white uniform and cap—demonstrated the kind of training given the babies. It was here, I later realized, that the conditioned reflex theories of Dr. Ivan Pavlov were being put into practice. The same pattern is followed in all nurseries and also by mothers training their children at home.

A six-months-old baby was brought to the nurse for his daily "conditioning." The routine was simple—to hold two rings out to the baby and persuade him to pull on them as the first step in the exercises. But I immediately noticed that the baby already knew what was coming and what he was supposed to do. He held out his hands to grasp the rings as soon as he saw the nurse. Then, after holding tightly to the rings throughout the exercise, he dropped them without being given any signal and shifted to the next exercise. This was using his legs and he went through the routine without any direction from the nurse. Then he lay rigid, waiting to be picked up by his heels and exercised on his head. After that, the nurse picked him up and hugged and kissed him and spent some time playing with him as any mother might do with a small baby.

Trained To Helotry

What, I asked myself, does this mean in ordinary life outside the nursery or schoolroom? And as I watched the children I knew that I had already seen some of the answers in the conduct of the Russian people, the generations that are growing up or have grown up since Dr. Pavlov conducted his experiments and drew his conclusions about the conditioning of reflex action. I remembered the day I had stood in the long line, moving four abreast, across Red Square to the tomb of Lenin. There were many children with their parents in the line but they were always quiet and orderly.

One little girl I had been observing could not have been more than three or four years old. She apparently asked her parents for some money and then stepped out of the line and walked over to an old woman who sold little packets of food for the passerby to distribute to the pigeons. The child bought a packet and solemnly scattered its contents and watched the birds rush to eat. Then she carefully folded the paper packet, returned it to the old woman's basket and walked back to stand beside her parents in the slow-moving line.

The American Approach

I thought that any American child would have crumpled the packet and doubtless thrown it in the street or, at best, into a trash basket. But the little Russian girl had been conditioned by the age of three to be neat, to save the paper (which is scarce in Russia) and to avoid littering the street. I felt sure that it never occurred to her to do otherwise. She had been trained to do certain things in certain situations and she did, just as Dr. Pavlov had said she would.

Such things as bits of paper may seem trivial in studying the actions of a great nation's population, particularly when the world is worried about missiles and hydrogen bombs and the cold war. But I do not believe the acts and attitudes of the Soviet government can be fully understood unless we are aware of the way in which the people have been prepared to carry on the Socialist philosophy on which the regime is based.

Ike Telegram To Hruska Challenged

A "good luck" telegram from President Eisenhower to Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb) has been declared "either a forgery or political clap trap," by Democratic Senatorial candidate Frank Morrison.

Morrison said he had observed earlier in the Nebraska Senatorial campaign that his opponent Hruska "called on all Republicans to support the GOP even though they didn't like the goings on in the White House."

Furthermore, Morrison said, the President stated "he wasn't going to support anyone who didn't go along with him on 3 special programs, including the foreign aid proposals."

Hruska has been a long time foe of foreign aid, Morrison said.

Rate Hike For LT&T Under Study

The State Railway Commission Thursday took under advisement the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company's request for a rate increase following a day-long hearing at which protestants questioned testimony offered by the company at initial hearings before the Commission in September.

Chief argument of protestants Robert Waring, Geneva city attorney, and Tom Dredla Jr., Crete city attorney, revolved around their contentions that the company should not include plant reproduction costs in arriving at their fair value.

Waring, who also represents the communities of Belvidere, Alexandria, Davenport, Carleton and Fairbury protesting the application, charged the company had not "qualified" its witnesses offering testimony on the reproductions costs.

He also challenged the September testimony of Lincoln banker Byron Dunn who had stated he believed the company's requested rate increase to bring a 7% return on its fair value. Waring charged Dunn was "not qualified" to determine what was a fair rate of return on a telephone company's investment.

'Definitely Qualified'

Lincoln attorney William Aitken, counsel for the Telephone Company, answered that he believed the company's engineering staff was definitely qualified to testify on reproduction costs and that such costs were "pertinent" in determining the firm's fair value.

Aitken also stated that he didn't know "where you would go in this state to find a man better qualified" than Dunn whose $43 years banking experience and riding herd on investments make him qualified to determine what is a fair rate of return."

In support of their argument that reproduction costs are germane in determining the company's value, Aitken filed a brief citing Nebraska Supreme Court decisions stating that a rate base must reflect the full present value of the property.

The Commission allowed Waring Dredla two weeks in which they may file answer briefs if they so desire.

'Regrets' Increase

Aitken told the Commission that LT&T "regrets" having to ask for a rate increase, but noted it was the first increase requested in 5 years.

"I've never seen a time in Nebraska when people weren't willing to pay increased prices, including telephone prices, when it meant improved service," Aitken declared.

Outlining again that the company's 1959 budget calls for the expenditure of some $6 million including its building expansion program, Aitken said the company does not have the reserves to put the plan into operation.

The firm will have to seek additional capital to continue its expanded services, he said, and it will not be able to get the needed capital if it cannot prove a fair return on its investment.

The company seeks additional net income of $85,711 a month, which would bring an adjusted total net income annually of $2,616,486.

Russ Tell Workers To Study The Bible

Moscow (AP) — Anti-religious workers of the Soviet Union were urged to study the Bible—so they can fight spiritual "parasites" on their own grounds.

The advice came from the Literary Gazette in an article from Baku warning against religious influence drawing youths away from the Young Communist League in Azerbaijan.

The Literary Gazette said "spiritual pastors" were trying to lure away youths there and some youngsters had broken away from the The newspaper said anti-religious workers need a good knowledge of religious history to combat the trend.

Why Home Owners Will Vote for The Wheel Tax

IT SAVES THEM MONEY

It is a question of whether 19,000 home owners will get hurt by higher property taxes for street improvements, or the owners of 50,000 motor vehicles registered in Lincoln will pay a small wheel tax. To ask each motor vehicle owner to pay $4, or more for heavy vehicles, is a fair way to pay the costs of street improvements.

Tests of public sentiment prove that those who do not own homes are willing to pay their share. It would be a tragic mistake for home owners to fail to vote yes on the vehicle tax ordinance. If you do not want still higher taxes on your home VOTE YES for the vehicle tax. Don't miss it . . . it is on the small ballot.

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

Down to Mexico City for the weekend to see the film festival. Things like "Mon Bon Ami," a French cleaning powder drama.

The film people are staying at the new Hotel Presidente. And somehow I don't seem to get past the Rivoli next door.

"My gosh, there is more drama in here every night than in all the movies," said Dario Borzani, who runs this elegant restaurant.

A Los Angeles Judge stopped by. He said he had been recommended to the Rivoli by the owner of Au Fin Bec in Geneva.

"Like that," said Dario, "we get the very best clientele. Why, even the man who steals my pepper mill is a vice president."

☆ ☆ ☆

The vice president who cops pepper mills was having dinner. He is a tall, elegant gentleman in his fifties. He is vice president of a rich and famous company.

He has one weakness: After a couple of drinks, he steals pepper grinders.

Nothing else. He is mad for pepper mills. It is a game, I think. He outwits the waiters.

Dario's pepper mill is two feet high. One of those big wooden Italian things. The waiter BRINGS it around. He peppers what you want. You never lay hands on it.

"I don't know how he did it," said Dario. "But I looked around and the pepper mill was gone."

The vice president sent it back the next day. He just wanted to heist it. If he wanted a pepper mill, he could buy a gross. He doesn't even use pepper very much.

☆ ☆ ☆

We are staying at the Hotel de Cortez. An historic street. The hotel is an antique convent built around a sunny patio.

I think it is great. But it must be a shock to tourists who arrive on the night plane. The entrance light is electric blue — the color of an arc welder's torch.

The street is pretty shabby. Cortez retreated on this street. That should give you an idea.

I came down with Don Keating. A top, public relations man. The unruffled type. But he looked a little white when he saw the blue-lighted entrance.

A few doors down the street, there is a stairway mounted with a big sign: "Enfermadades Secretas."

"What's that?" he said nervously.

"That's the name of the man who lives there."

I thought if I told him we were living next to a clinic for secret infirmities, he might catch the next plane back.

Our hotel is built like all Spanish houses. The best part is inside. This morning we had breakfast in the patio beside the fountain. The sun is warm and a boy comes in off the street and shines your shoes at the table.

☆ ☆ ☆

Besides clinics on our street, we have pozole parlors. Pozole is a famous dish from Guerrero. Guranteed to cure a hangover. (We live in a HEALTHY street, you can say that.)

You start pozole by boiling 12 pounds of pigs' jowls. When this is soup, put in about 12 pounds of hominy. Dish this out. Sprinkle with chopped onions and oregano. Top with canned sardines and sliced avocados. Squeeze a whole lime over it.

You take it with a cactus plant drink called mescal. In each bottle of mescal they float a cactus worm. They do not pour it out into your drink —that would be cheating the next customer.

Mexicans drink a good deal of mescal along with this built-in cure. They swear it works. Which ingredient has the power, they won't say. It is a secreta.

$32,000 In Science Aid Offered NU Grad Students

New fellowship awards totaling approximately $32,000 have been made available to University of Nebraska graduate students by the National Science Foundation.

According to a foundation announcement, the University was selected as a participating institution in a new graduate fellowship program to be inaugurated in 1959 on the basis of its ranking as one of the American institutions of higher education which have conferred an average of at least one doctoral degree per year in science, mathematics or engineering in recent years.

Eleven Cooperative Graduate Fellowships, which may be used for an academic or for a full year, and 6 Summer Fellowships for Graduate Teaching Assistants will be available for 1959-60 to University graduate students in the fields of mathematics and sciences.

To Promote Progress

The emphasis of the new program, one of the Foundation's means of promoting the progress of science, will be placed upon co-operation with participating institutions in identifying and supporting graduate students of high ability, according to the announcement The program is in addition to the Foundation's regular predoctoral fellowship program.

Recipients of the awards will devote full time to advanced scientific study or work including teaching duties considered by the participating institution as contributory to their academic progress.

Each Fellow will be affiliated during the term of the award with the institution through which he applied.

The annual stipend for Cooperate Graduate Fellowships amounts to $2,200, and for the summer fellowships, from $50 to $75 a week for eight to 12 weeks.

Applications for the awards must be submitted to the dean of the University's Graduate College by Dec. 15, 1958. The winners will be announced shortly after Mar. 20, 1959.

Cyrus Eaton Proposes Ike And Nikita Swap Visits

. . . In Interests Of World Peace

Washington (UPI) — Industrialist Cyrus Eaton proposed that President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev exchange visits in the interest of world peace.

The Cleveland, Ohio, industrial leader told a National Press Club luncheon that such visits between the two heads of government would lessen the danger of a nuclear war which "would destroy us all."

Eaton, who recently returned from a visit to Russia, said Khrushchev expressed a great desire to see the United States. The Soviet Premier also promised Eisenhower a warm welcome if he visited Moscow, Eaton said.

The controversial industrialist predicted that "an enormous contribution to the future peace of the world" would result if Khrushchev could see 1st-hand the wonders of U.S. industry and agriculture.

'Ghost Letters'

Eaton called on Eisenhower to substitute the visit invitation for what he called the recent acrimonious "ghost letter writing" on world affairs to Khrushchev.

Eaton accused Secretary of State John John Foster Dulles of being the real author of the President's letters in the Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchanges.

Eaton said he believed both the Russian leaders and people "want to make peace with us . . . . want to get along with us." But he conceded that Russian leaders had done "a most amazing job of indoctrinating their people."

Russians generally, he said, were alarmed and "genuinely scared of what they think Americans are going to do to them." But he said he was convinced the Russians would go along on an agreement for a stable peace "if they thought that we meant it."

Democratic Funds Continue To Grow

Three more reports of major contributions to political campaigns were submitted to the Secretary of State's office Thursday, including a listing of $75 to the Panhandle Democrats.

Harold Tripple of Scottsbluff, treasurer of the Panhandle Democrats, included the report of a $50 contribution from D. Nelson of Terrytown.

A supplemental report from the Nebraskans for Morrison committee, listed a $50 contribution from C. C. Kimball of Lincoln in the campaign of Frank B. Morrison, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

The Brock for Congress Committee reported additional contributions totaling $657 to the campaign of Lawrence Brock, Democratic candidate for Third District congressman.

Included were $50 contributions each from Elias G. Conger of Pender and John W. Drayton of Valentine.

West Accused

London (AP) — Moscow Radio broadcast Egyptian reports of troop movements in Israel and accused the West of "preparing a new military adventure to achieve their greedy objectives."

"This report arouses anxiety. If it is true, a serious situation would arise in the Middle and Near East," said a Moscow broadcast to Arab countries.

Cost Reports For Senate Hopefuls Bit Misleading

Washington (UPI)—Official reports made it appear that this year's candidates for election to the U.S. Senate had escaped the high cost of politicking and, in some cases, any cost at all.

But the reports, as usual, told less than the entire story.

For example, such wealthy candidates as Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) declared that they personally neither received nor spent any funds in their re-election campaigns.

But their reports, like others filed according to law with the secretary of the Senate, need not reflect money used in their behalf by state committees or other campaign organizations.

Historically, the reports never have provided a complete picture of the sums involved in electing one-third of the Senate every two years.

Some hard - campaigning senate aspirants reported light to moderately heavy spending in their initial filings, which are required under the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925.

Lincolnite Among Wheat Men Due Back From Europe

Twenty-two members of the United States Great Plains Wheat Mission are expected to arrive in Omaha Friday after a 30-day trip to Europe.

Carl Deitemeyer of 1414 S. 52nd, was one of 15 Nebraskans making the trip.

Sponsored by the Nebraska Wheat Growers, the trip included visits in Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Italy, France, and England.

Making the trip were:

Deitemeyer, Lincoln; Ruth Bailey, Hayden, Colo.; Carl Bruns, Chappell, president of the Nebraska Wheat Growers Assn.; Mrs. Carl Bruns; Albert Carlberg, Fremont; Earl Henkens, Chadron; Mr. and Mrs. John Hennings, Alliance; Richard Kildee, Fremont; Ida Hullet, Protection, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. William Lindeken, Chadron; Mr. and Mrs. Lindquist, Ogallala; Mr. and Mrs. O. L. McConaughey, Alliance; Emily Schwartz, Chappell; Charles Stutzman, Wakeeney, Kan.; Mrs. Tom Toombs, Lubbock, Tex.; L. E. Watson, Humboldt; and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown, Liberal, Kan.

Tiny Painting

Nuernberg, Germany (AP)—Artist Ernest Schachner claims he's done the world's smallest painting: A German landscape in oil measuring 8x10 millimeters (.3150x.3937 inches). He said a fellow artist, August Diterich of nearby Ebern, held the old record at 13x10mm.

SENATOR
ROMAN HRUSKA'S RECORD
MERITS YOUR VOTE

FOREIGN AID

Hruska has consistently voted against foreign aid handouts. While some foreign aid may be necessary in our own defense, the over-all result has done more harm than good to America's position abroad. The aid program has certainly been a big drain on American taxpayers. The entire program should be completely revised.

AGRICULTURE

Senator Hruska has continually fought for sound, positive farm legislation. He has voted to rid the farmer of bureaucratic regulation, marketing quotas, and of harsh control by limiting the number of acres he can plant.

He has sponsored programs to find new industrial uses for farm products and to increase other outlets for surplus crops. He supported and voted for the Public Law 480 export program, which has made such a remarkable record in cutting down farm surpluses.

Senator Hruska's voting record makes clear his loyal, energetic support of programs to conserve our soil and water resources, farm research programs, REA development, and other measures of benefit to Nebraska's basic industry—farming.

PUBLIC WORKS AND RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

Hruska has earned the respect of his fellow Senators by his devoted work as a member of the Senate Public Works Committee. He strongly supported the enactment of the Small Watershed Act of 1956, under which many Nebraska watersheds are now being developed. He has voted for sound, feasible water and flood control projects. He helped write and enact the important 1956 and 1958 Highway Acts.

LABOR

Hruska believes labor unions are vital and indispensable to our entire economic system. They have done much to improve the lot of the working man.

Most unions, union officials, and union members are honest and sincere in their efforts to advance labor's cause.

But disclosures of the Senate Labor-Management Rackets Committee have been shocking to members and officers of labor unions as well as to the public. They prove that workers need protection against corrupt and dishonest union bosses.

Hruska favors laws to control union finances, to give members a secret ballot, a true voice in union affairs, and to insure that the great economic and financial power of unions will be used for lawful purposes. Most businesses have long been regulated by laws for the benefit of the public, yet they have flourished. Labor unions and their officials should not be above the law.

IMPROVING GOVERNMENT METHODS

Senator Hruska has earnestly worked to put the Hoover Commission Resolutions for government re-organization into effect. He was a sponsor of the bill resulting in Public Law 85-759, known as the "Annual Accrued Expenditures Act", which relates to budgeting and fiscal management. He believes that such measures will benefit the taxpayer by resulting economy and improved efficiency.

FOREIGN POLICY

The preservation of peace is the top issue. Nebraska's senior senator has strongly supported President Eisenhower's wise, experienced leadership in world affairs. It is the most likely course to prevent war. The President's calm but firm moves in world affairs constitute our best diplomatic weapons in dealing with the communist threat.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Hruska was an early and firm advocate of President Eisenhower's Defense Re-organization Plan, which is now law. In the House, he served on the Armed Services Subcommittee on Appropriations. He knows the vital need for a modern, alert defense, but insists even in this field upon a constant effort to eliminate military waste and inefficiency.

SPENDING AND INFLATION

Hruska has rightly been called "...a cornerstone of the economy block in Congress." He believes that the Nation's greatest menace on the domestic scene is inflation—the decrease of the purchasing power of the dollar. He knows that high and deficit government spending is a prime cause of inflation. He realizes that once government spending is started, it is hard to stop.

He repeatedly opposed attempts of New Deal Democrats to ram through many of their socialistic, "do-good" high-spending measures. His entire six-year record on money bills is one of economy and great care with the taxpayers' dollars.

TAXES

Hruska has been alert to correct tax inequalities by changing or repealing laws previously passed. Examples: Hruska voted to exempt from federal taxation gasoline used on the farm. He voted against excise taxes on passenger and freight charges, and on telephone calls. He introduced a bill for tax credit to teachers for money spent in furthering their education.

However, Hruska is thoroughly opposed to financing a reduction in taxes by increasing the national debt which he believes is now much too high. He will continue to support efforts to reduce government spending so that true tax reductions can be made without further inflating our currency.

INTERNAL SECURITY

Our national defense budget of about $45 billions yearly is required because of the Communist declared program of world conquest. It will avail us little if we guard against attacks from the outside, without taking firm and intelligent steps against Communist advances within our own borders.

Senator Hruska, as a member of the powerful Judiciary Committee, has presided over many hearings of its Internal Security Subcommittee dealing with Communist activities. He has repeatedly sponsored legislation to tighten the laws against Communist infiltration and subversion. His work on this vital subject alone merits his re-election so that he can help continue the fight against communism.

Senator Hruska strongly supported President Eisenhower's request for an extension of the reciprocal trade program. Senator Hruska was a strong supporter of the Eisenhower Doctrine and the Formosa Resolution which have been so successful in stabilizing the troubled areas in the world.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

KIT

by KIT STUART
of Southeast High School

Tuesday all school clubs put on skits to inform the sophomores of the function of each club. From the skits, the sophomore chose which club they would like to join. Pictured in the Cheerleading and "S" Club skits (seated from left to right) are; Susie Hunt, Joanie Davies, Judy Howard, Ruthie Read, Dee Stuart, Kit Stuart, Susie Sidell, Dick Harr and (standing) Ronnie Loken, Bill Wright, Jon Taylor, John Powell, Ken TenHulzen, Bud Dobson, Steve Solheim, Steve North and Dennis Puelz.

Incidentally the costumes are authentic but note the switch in the wearers. Our demure cheerleaders appear in sports attire borrowed for the occasion from the men's locker room. And dig those crazy athletes sporting kilts and knee socks.

Friday, before the Northeast-Southeast game, Susie Rowden, Susie Minier, Mary Sue Pike, JoAnn Goebel, Rosanne Schleicher, Carol Strehlo, Sue Moffitt and Nancy Wolfe are having a Pizza Party for all the senior girls.

Following the dinner there will be a caravan to the public schools oval from Southeast. All cars will be decorated and everyone is in for lots of fun!

After the game, Linda Bastian is having a slumber party for a group of the senior girls. Lots of excitement is expected, but very little sleep.

Karen Lund, Judy Erickson, Linda Heilig, Jan Allen, Kathy Williams, Kay Leibers, Carmen Geese, Cindy Towne, Kit Thompson, and Cordy Seward are having a dinner before the game for a group of juniors.

Also having dinners for junior girls are Grace Vodra and Kathy Schwartz.

"Halloween is a very strange night,
One of fun, yet full of fright.
Goblins and witches haunt us all,
To make special this night of fall!"

Town Talk

—traditions are so nice and one which was given full play on Thursday was the surprise party honoring Miss Holly Hawke who will become the bride of Donald R. Larson of Santa Barbara, Calif., on Nov. 22.

The bride-elect, under false pretenses, was lured to the home of Mrs. E. G. Schaumberg where she was the surprised honoree at a party for which the members of her mother's bridge club were hostesses. The traditional party, of course, is given for the members' daughters preceding their weddings.

Also in courtesy to Miss Hawke will be the 11 o'clock brunch on Sunday morning when Mrs. Philip Aitken and Mrs. John D. Campbell will entertain at the Lincoln Country Club.

Parties for the popular bride-to-be will continue next week when Mrs. Jack Holmquist will be hostess at a personal shower to be held at the University Club on Wednesday evening.

On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. George Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sidles will be dinner hosts and hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club. The guest list of 16 will include members of the family and a one-gift shower will be presented to Miss Hawke.

The bride-elect will be honored at a kitchen shower on Saturday morning, Nov. 8, when Mrs. Sam Jensen will be hostess at her home.

* * *

—understand that a guest in Lincoln this week-end will be Howard Murfin, New York City advertising executive and alumnus of the University of Nebraska, who will join his Phi Kappa Psi fraternity brothers for the Homecoming festivities. During his stay, Mr. Murfin will be the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Seward Day.

* * *

—also in Lincoln for the game and Homecoming week-end will be Mr. and Mrs. Kaer P. Vanice of Kansas City who will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston.

Delta Zeta Anniversary

Homecoming on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus this week-end will also mark a "homecoming" for members of Delta Zeta sorority who will gather to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Beta Tau Chapter.

The festivities will include an open house Friday evening, Saturday morning coffee and alumnae meeting, and a banquet that evening at Cotner Terrace.

Especially honored will be Mrs. Edna Perrin, charter member of the chapter, and Miss Jessie Bragg, Raymond, a member of the chapter's first pledge class.

Also honored will be Mrs. George C. Havens of Des Moines, administrator of Delta Zeta college chapters, and Mrs. A. Clifford Anderson, Lincoln, province director.

Coming from out of town for the event will be Mrs. Chris Keim, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Miss Alice Gentry, Denver; Mrs. Rodney Stoltz, Watertown, S.D.; Mrs. Morris Amren, Minneapolis; Mrs. Aubrey Forrest, Mrs. Don Overton, Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Francis M. Hitch, Council Bluffs; Mrs. Max Hammer, Glenwood, Ia.

Also attending will be Mrs. Bob Schnabel, Norfolk; Mrs. Larry Abker, Bradshaw; Mrs. Max Gentry, Mrs. William Gentry, Mrs. Oscar Wieberg, Gering; Mrs. Ethel Hall, Geneva; Mrs. Albert Gay, Fremont; Mrs. Lloyd Ang, Valparaiso; Mrs. Robert Eisenach, Lyons; Mrs. Roy Holloway, Fairbury; and from Omaha, Mrs. Charles Voorhees, Miss Janet Voorhees, Mrs. Robert Rasmussen, Miss Doris Miller, Miss Elizabeth Webster, and Mrs. Charles Vandas.

The Star In Suburbia

Our always busy suburbs, Hollingsworth Heights, Prairie Valley, Fiene Heights, and South Hills, are no exception this Friday morning, for we have news of parties, new residents, and house guests.

PRAIRIE VALLEY

We're rolling out the welcome mat once again this morning for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Icenogle who moved into their new home at 2830 Prairie Rd. on Wednesday. Their previous address was 2200 So. 34th St.

Younger members of the Icenogle family include three sons Bob, Eddy, and John.

It is also our pleasure to welcome Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Epp and their two sons, Milke, 8, and Mark, 6, who joined Prairie Valley residents this fall. The Epp family's new address in 2625 No. Eden Dr.

Mention of Dr. and Mrs. Epp reminds us that they will be entertaining out-of-town guests at dinner at their home following the Missouri game.

A host and hostess at their home on Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Helmsdoerfer who entertained at a pheasant feed for Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mason.

SOUTH HILLS

It was Mrs. Herbert K. Wheeler who was the honoree at a pink and blue shower on Wednesday morning Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. William Lawson, Mrs. Frank Wanek, Mrs. Theron Corey, and Mrs. Hale Dodge. Forty guests attended the coffee which was held in the Green room at the Officers' Club.

Understand that Capt. and Mrs. William Kimberlin will be a host and hostess at their home on Saturday night at a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Gosting, who are moving to Fort Worth, Tex., next week. Other guests who will attend the dinner and bridge party are Capt. and Mrs. Bruce Mills, Maj. and Mrs. Glenn Lally, Capt. and Mrs. Theron Corey, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Hensley.

HOLLINGSWORTH HEIGHTS

A busy host and hostess this week end will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell. Today Mr. and Mrs. Chet Olsen of Aurora, their son, Gerry, and one of Gerry's friends will arrive in Hollingsworth Heights.

And other house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell this week end wil be Mrs. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Con Trupp of McCook.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Julius Astor have been vacationing at Excelsior Springs, Mo. They will return from their two-weeks trip on Sunday.

FIENE HEIGHTS

This morning was the departure date for Barbara Kay and Judy Newell, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newell, who will spend the week end with their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Newell, in Denver, Colo.

And then we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Bob Colborn left yesterday for Superior, where they are visiting Mr. Colborn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Colborn. Mrs. Colborn's mother, Mrs. L. D. Davison, of Bassett, also joined them on their trip.

Dear Abby . . .

Above Reproach?

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I lived with my parents for a month when we were first married. My husband had a fight with my folks over money and he hasn't spoken a word to them since. That was five and a half years ago. I think he should forgive and forget. My mother says she still loves him like a son. We have three children. The oldest one is three years old and she'll soon be asking why Daddy doesn't talk to them. How can I explain it to her? I'd like to invite my parents over, but they won't come because they know they are not welcome by my husband. Please tell me, Abby, how can I get him to forgive my folks? Print your answer, please, because he reads every word of this paper. Thank you. WISHING

DEAR WISHING: GOD forgives. Who does your husband think he is?

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister has been having her mail sent to our house so her husband won't know she is writing to a certain married man. I feel like a sneak, hiding the letters away and then slipping them to her behind her husband's back. Would it be wrong to tell her right to her face in front of her husband) that I am through covering up for her?

TIRED OF COVERING

DEAR TIRED: Tell her privately first. If this doesn't penetrate, let your husband (her brother) tell her to either cut out the extra-marital correspondence or face exposure. Double exposure, that is.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married three years and I think it's time we started a family, but I get nothing but arguments from her. She has three sisters and they are all married and have families, but you should see them! No two of them could get through the door together. She says it was having babies that ruined their shapes and she doesn't want that to happen to her. She says it runs in her family to get fat after having a baby. Please tell her she is wrong. She won't listen to me.

TALKED OUT

DEAR TALKED: She certainly must know better, and is using this lame excuse because she has other fears. All around us are women who have had children (4 and 5) whose figures are as trim as teenagers. Let her doctor reassure her.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO DETROIT DO DO: If you've got the spirit — 76 is not too old.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Bride On Thursday Morning

MRS. LEE F. CARTER

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Dodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Dodge of Webster Groves, Mo., to Lee F. Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Carter, took place on Thursday morning, Oct. 30, at St. Teresa's Church. The 10 o'clock service was solemnized by Msgr. M. M. Kaczmarek.

Mrs. Joseph H. Carter was the matron of honor and bride's only attendant, and Mr. Carter served his brother as best man.

Traditional white satin and Chantilly lace were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. Lace fashioned the yoke of the sculptured bodice of satin which was designed with a shoulder-wide neckline, and the lace continued over the shoulders into long, tapered sleeves. The circular skirt of satin was completed by a very full overskirt of the lace, and lace dotted with seed pearls formed the cap which held her illusion veil. She carried a white missal ornamented with a pink rose.

A small reception was held at the church after which the couple left for an eastern wedding trip, later to reside at Webster Groves.

A graduate of Fontbonne College in St. Louis, the bride also attended Washington University, St. Louis. Mr. Carter is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity.

Lenox Club

Mrs. J. P. Lintt entertained the members of the Lenox Club at her home in Bennet on Wednesday afternoon. Following luncheon, the group spent the afternoon hours with games.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Mary Eddy, Mrs. Sarah Heller, Mrs. Lester Allen, Mrs. Henry Knobel, Mrs. C. S. Splain and Miss Julia Peterson.

Lincoln PTA Activity

Continuing their series of informal coffees, the members of EASTRIDGE PTA will sponsor a 10:15 o'clock coffee on Friday morning at the school for the parents of 3rd grade pupils. At each meeting, discussions are led by faculty members.

The series will conclude next week with a 10:15 o'clock coffee Monday morning for parents of 4th graders, and a 10:15 o'clock coffee Wednesday morning for parents of 6th graders.

The members of WEST LINCOLN PTA, District 126, will be hosts and hostesses Friday evening at a Hallowe'en party at the school for all the pupils.

Preceding the party, the PTA members will meet at the school for a jitney supper.

Named to the board of ELLIOTT PTA are Mrs. Perry Douthit, school coordinator; Mrs. Russell Ripley, publicity and news letter; Mrs. Charles Hauptman, membership; Mrs. C. L. Young publicity book; Mrs. Joe Tesar, hospitality; Mrs. Rudolph Umland, legislation; Mr. and Mrs. Olin Gray, safety; Mrs. Marland Meisenbach, magazine; Mrs. Jack Sinner, health; Arthur Brophy, recreation; Mrs. Joseph Adams, spiritual life; Mrs. Philip Kelly, room mother chairman; Mrs. Chester Billings and Mrs. Herbert Glancy, teacher representatives; and K. W. Hiatt, civil defense.

It has been announced by Mrs. William Amen, president of the group, that the school's annual Family Night will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 7, and again on Friday, Nov. 21.

Dr. Hiskey Heads Committee For Crippled

Dr. Marshall S. Hiskey, director of the University of Nebraska's educational psychology clinic, has been elected chairman of the Lancaster County Committee for Crippled Children and Adults.

Dr. Hiskey

The educator will succeed Dr. Leroy T. Laase, chairman of the University's speech and dramatic arts department, who was recently named president of the state society. Dr. Laase has served as chairman of the county group for the past 3 years.

Other officers elected included: Virginia Dolan, Gene Eaton and Mary Anderson, all vice chairmen; Nora Osborn, secretary; and Robert Gessner, treasurer, all of Lincoln.

Dr. Hiskey, who joined the University staff in 1954, is also professor of educational psychology and measurements and co-ordinator of training of teachers of exceptional children.

Active in work with exceptional children, Dr. Hiskey is a member of the executive committee of the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children and Adults; chairman of the budget committee for the Governor's Committee on Employment of Handicapped; consultant and research advisor for the new experimental school of trainable children at Cozad; a member of the State Committee for Gifted Children; and past president of the Lincoln chapter of Council for Exceptional Children.

He is author and publisher of an intelligence test for deaf children which is used internationally.

At the Committee's annual election, these new committee members, all of Lincoln, were chosen for a 3-year term:

Bates' Trial To Come Up After Election

The case of Charles A. Bates, 58, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner who is charged with using foul, indecent and abusive language, will not be heard until after the Nov. 4 election.

City Prosecutor Tom Gorham said that Bates indicated he wanted the case set for Friday, Nov. 7, when served a Municipal Court summons on the pending complaint.

Bates is charged in connection with an Oct. 25 incident when he was issued a parking meter ticket by a Lincoln Police "meter maid."

Gorham had said the case could be heard either Oct. 31 or Nov. 7 whichever date would be preferred by the defendant.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Banks Paces NL-Dominated All-Stars

Concordia Visits Wesleyan For NWU Homecoming

Ashburn, Williams On Second Squad

New York (AP)—Shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, the major league home run leader this past season, topped the voting for the 1958 Associated Press major league All-Star team named Thursday. Banks was named by 160 of the 173 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America participating in the annual poll.

There were only 4 repeaters from last year's squad. They were first baseman Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, outfielder Hank Aaron and left-handed pitcher Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and outfielder Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

The others picked were second baseman Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, third baseman Frank Thomas of the Pittsburgh Pirates, outfielder Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, catcher Del Crandall of the Braves and right-handed pitcher Bob Turley of the Yankees.

Thus National Leaguers filled 7 of the 10 positions.

Spahn ranked closest to Banks in the vote-getting with 155, followed by Musial with 134, Mays 132, Turley 113, Aaron 100, Mantle 91 and Fox 85.

The balloting for catcher and third baseman produced the most competition. Crandall received 62 votes as compared to 43 for catcher Sherm Lollar of the White Sox. Thomas was named on 64 ballots while third baseman Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox collected 44 votes.

Six of the All-Stars hit .300 or better, headed by Mays' .347. Musial batted .337, Aaron .326, Banks .313, Mantle .304 and Fox .300. Banks paced the majors in homers with 47 and runs batted in with 129. Mantle was the American League home run leader with 42.

Spahn won 20 or more games for the 9th time in his career, compiling a 22-11 won-lost record and .667 percentage. He tied teammate Lew Burdette for top percentage

Knights, Rockets Paired

NE Homecoming Set At Oval

GAMES TONIGHT
Southeast at Northeast (Oval), 7:30 p.m.
Lincoln High ..... at Omaha Tech
Pius X ..... at Hebron

By Bob McCoy

Capital City prep football heads into its next-to-last round of action of the season tonight, with an intracity contest that hasdeveloped into a spirited rivalry in just 3 years heading the schedule.

The intracity fray—the only home game of the night—will match Northeast against Lincoln Southeast at 7:30 p.m. at the Oval.

Lincoln High is on the road, playing Omaha Tech and Pius X winds up its season at Hebron in other games.

The Southeast-Northeast battle will mark the 3rd meeting between the two clubs and will be Northeast's homecoming.

Southeast, currently the hottest team in the Capital City, will be bidding for its 4th straight win, but could be upset by the Rockets if history repeats itself.

SE won the first game of the series 14-0 two years ago, but last year NE upset the Knights 19-6. So it's hard to pick a favorite unless you go on performances this season, which gives Southeast an advantage.

Lincoln High, 47-0 loser to rugged Omaha South last week, will be out to make amends against Omaha Tech tonight.

The Link work won't be quite as hard tonight as it was last week, but still won't be rated easy. The Links, with a 3-3 season mark, are rated 6th in the state Class A list while Tech (3-4) is ranked 9th.

Lincoln High will be minus quarterback John Zuerlein, who is out with a virus infection, for the second straight week. Reserve tackle Tom Day will also be sidelined.

Pius X hopes to wind up its 3rd straight successful season with a victory over Hebron tonight.

Pius was soundly thrashed by Iowa prep power Sioux City Heelan last week, but coach Vince Aldrich reported no injuries and said the squad will be in top shape for the Hebron invasion tonight.

Hebron is unbeaten this season in posting a 6-0-1 record, while Pius' mark shows 4-2-1.

LAFB Bowler Rolls 723 Series

Raymond Bischof had his bowling arm warmed up but good Thursday night at the Lincoln Air Force Base alleys. He turned in a sparkling 723 series, best in the Capital City this season.

Bischof's series was the first 700 or better posted this year, but with an average of 191 up to Thursday night, he may be in line for more.

Rolling for the Air Refueling Squadron in the 98th Bombardment Intramural League, Bischof got started with a 220 game. Then things picked up and he tacked on games of 258 and 245 to finish with his 723 total.

His big night boosted his average 8 notches and left him just a few pins shy of the 200 mark for 18 games.

Wilkinson Bristles, Bars Photographers From Field

Denver (AP)—Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson bristled and barred reporters and photographers from the private estate where the Sooners worked out Thursday for their Saturday football game with Colorado.

The perennial Big Eight champions arrived by plane Wednesday night for the crucial contest with the unbeaten Buffaloes.

Wilkinson, normally tactful and diplomatic on all fronts, snapped harshly at the group which met him and his players at the entrance of their practice area Thursday afternoon.

The troop of Sooners arrived at the scene by special bus.

Reporters approached the Oklahoma coach and asked for a few pictures of his players. They had been barred from the estate by security guards posted along a fence surrounding the estate.

"We haven't any time for that stuff," snapped Wilkinson. "We're working on a schedule."

"Harrison's team line up. Hurry up. We can't have any production here. We have 43 men waiting and we've got to get going."

When a photographer protested, Wilkinson replied:

"I don't care if you get your picture or not."

Then the Sooners brigade vanished behind the closed, guarded gates.

A local photographer was flushed from some trees later during the practice session. He was attempting to take pictures of player activity with a camera equipped with a telescopic lens.

The game at Folsom Field in Boulder has been a 46,000-fan sellout since July.

Colorado, winner of 5 straight games and the nation's total offense and rushing leader, is ranked 9th nationally by the Associated Press. Oklahoma, once beaten in 5 games, is ranked No. 7.

Colorado worked out for 2½ hours Thursday in a private session at Boulder. The Buffs are in top physical condition for the big one.

Wesleyan Seeks Homecoming Win

Plainsmen Can Post Best Mark; Concordia Provides Opposition

Nebraska Wesleyan will be shooting for its 4th Nebraska College Conference victory of the year tonight when the Plainsmen host Concordia College in a homecoming contest.

Game time at Magee Stadium is 7:30 p.m.

The Plainsmen—tied with Hastings for 4th in the NCC—will post their best record under Coach Kieth Skogman if they win tonight.

Skogman-coached teams have never won more than 3 games since the genial mentor took over in 1954.

Wesleyan will be a heavy favorite to achieve its goal at the expense of the undermanned Concordia crew. The Bulldogs have won but a single game—over Dana—in 6 starts this fall and aren't figured to deflate the Plainsmen in their homecoming performance.

Skogman's gridders last week played Kearney—rated 7th in the nation in the NAIA—to a close 14-0 margin.

Wesleyan kicked off its homecoming festivities Thursday night with a prep rally and snake dance on the NWU campus.

Probable startetrs tonight:

NU End Out For Season

. . . Roger Brede Reinjures Fractured Wrist

By Don Bryant

Nebraska suffered another casualty Thursday and, once again, it was the end corps that got hit.

Junior letterman Roger Brede reinjured his arm and will be out for the remainder of the season, Coach Bill Jennings said. Brede fractured his wrist in fall camp, but returned to duty for the Syracuse game.

With Brede and Roland McDole, hospitalized with glandular fever, out of action, the Husker end picture is far from bright. Jennings had been counting on Brede as a starter for the Missouri homecoming game Saturday.

But now he'll have only Guy Sapp and John Bond, both green hands, at right end. Bill Bohanan, a soph, is slated to start at left end, backed up by Mike Eger, a soph who is still nursing hurts.

Looking ahead to the Tigers, Jennings said Thursday:

"We certainly can't fumble like we did at Colorado and expect to win."

The Huskers have been drilling heavily on handoffs this week trying to correct the problem which hurt them the first half at Colorado.

"We just hope that practice will help," Bill said. "Sometimes practice cures fumbles and sometimes it doesn't."

There was speculation that the dust at Folsom Field prompted the numerous fumbles. Both teams lost the ball frequently and players and coaches reported that the field was very dry, with lots of dust swirling around on every play.

"It was as dry as I've ever seen," Jennings said. "Our shoes and trousers were coated with dust by the opening kickoff."

Brede .... tough season.

Pair Of Aces

Orlando, Fla. (AP)—A hole in one by a golfer is not too frequent an occurrence. And not often do the perfect shots come in pairs.

Two Orlando men did it. Ralph Reed and Max Hanley playing in the same 4-some each got a hole in one on the 133-yard 17th hole of the Orlando Country Club course.

Sports Editor, The Star

At this writing, I'm too ill to really suffer because of last week's horrible flop.

What I need more than prognosticating success is a cure for laryngitis, the common cold, bronchitis, double pneumonia and heart burn.

But I will concede that last week's upsets no doubt had something to do with the relapse. A nervous system isn't built to take shocks at the above mentioned maladies plus impossible upsets.

At any rate, I guessed only 25 of 45 games correctly for a misery-matching .564 percentage, bring the year's mark to a paltry .658.

I'm almost too sick to continue, but here goes:

Big Eight

NEBRASKA 20, MISSOURI 12 . . . There's no place like home.

OKLAHOMA 24, COLORADO 15 . . . But Buffs could do it—if they can hang onto the ball.

Big 8 Included In All-Star Bowl

Tempe, Ariz. (AP) —The first annual Copper Bowl football game matching two collegiate All-Star teams will be played Dec. 20 in Tempe.

Backers of the game said an All-Star team will be selected from the Southwest, Big Eight, Border and Skyline Conferences to meet an All-Star squad picked from other conferences in the nation.

Coach Frank Kush of Arizona State at Tempe has agreed to direct the Southwest club. Southern California's Don Clark will coach the National All-Stars.

Proceeds from the game will be turned over to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation Fund.

The bowl game is sponsored by a group of Phoenix civic leaders.

'Now, Listen Here'

The little man on the left telling off the giants is Weeb Ewbank, coach of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. Taking his lip with a smile are tackle Daddy Lipscomb (center) and end Gino Marchetti. They've been following Ewbank's orders for the first 5 games of the NFL season, and so far the Colts are unbeaten.

Little Man Is Responsible For Undefeated Baltimore

Baltimore (AP) — A little man in a crumpled brown suit will be noticed by only a few on the sidelines of Sunday's football game between the Baltimore Colts and Green Bay Packers.

Many in the stands wouldn't be so sure about his correct name. And most people outside of Baltimore wouldn't even know who he is if you told them.

Yet after you get through mentioning the likes of quarterback Johnny Unitas, Fullback Alan Ameche, halfback Lennie Moore or owner Carroll Rosenbloom, the short fellow is more responsible than any for the undefeated Colts.

He's the coach. By name, Weeb Ewbank, far from a household word in the world of sports.

Ewbank was pulled out of virtual obscurity by the Colts in 1954. Although he's been coaching sports for 26 years, he was head man only once. That was at Washington University in St. Louis.

Ewbank had done as much basketball coaching at Miami University in Ohio, his alma mater, and Brown as football.

Prior to being picked by the Colts, he toiled in the big shadow of Paul Brown for 5 years as an assistant with the Cleveland Browns.

His background produced no inferiority complex.

Last year, for the second straight season there was talk of firing him. This was after the Colts won their first 3 games and then lost the next 3.

"I know football and I know what I am doing is right," Ewbank asserted. "We still are building and I feel I'm doing my job.

"But if I don't have this job, I'll have another in football."

Rosenbloom, who the year before had given serious thought to a coaching change in his burning desire for a winner, also spiked the talk.

"He can stay in Baltimore with us forever—or until he fouls up," proclaimed Rosenbloom.

Ewbank announced on his arrival in Baltimore that he planned to create a "regime" similar to the successful one wrought in Cleveland by Brown.

He kept advising it could not be done overnight.

in the National loop. His earned run average was 3.07.

Turley had the highest won-lost percentage in the AL, .750. He won 21 and lost 7 and posted a 2.98 era.

Both league batting champions, outfielders Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phils, were second team choices. Boston's Jackie Jensen was the 3rd outfielder on the second squad.

Williams, whose .328 led the American League, polled 66 votes. Jensen, the junior circuit's RBI king with 122, was named on 42 ballots. Ashburn, who topped the National loop with .350, amassed 41 votes.

Others voted to the second team were: first base—Orlando Cepeda, Giants (21); second base—Bill Mazeroski, Pirates (48); shortstop—Luis Aparicio, White Sox (8); left-handed pitcher—Whitey Ford, Yanks (9) and right-handed pitcher—Bob Friend, Pirates (40).

Football Arrests Spread

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—Clean-up of an alleged campus football gambling racket spread to nearby Eastern Michigan College Thursday as police arrested their 8th student in two days.

A warrant was issued charging David Martin, 19, an Eastern Michigan sophomore from Detroit, with engaging in an illegal occupation in connection with the selling of football spot cards.

Martin was arrested by state police at the request of Ann Arbor police who have been investigating football gambling for 5 weeks.

Seven University of Michigan students, including two varsity athletes were arrested on the same charge Tuesday. The 7 stood mute at their arraignment Wednesday before Municipal Judge Francis L O'Brien, who set their trial dates for next month.

Martin will be kept in Washtenaw County jail here pending arraignment before Judge O'Brien today.

Eastern Michigan is located in Ypsilanti, about 6 miles east of here.

Eugene Staudenmier, who asked the warrants against asked the warrantts against all 8 students, declined to say if there was a tie-in between gambling activities of the two campuses.

Maximum penalty for conviction of the misdemeanor is 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Lifter Features Wednesday Rassle Card

Paul Anderson, known by Americans as the strongest man in the world and admired by Russians because of his great weight-lifting ability, will be in Lincoln next Wednesday night.

But the mammoth Southerner won't be lifting weights. Anderson will pit his brute strength against the tricks and mat know-how of the Masked Marvel in the feature event of the rassle card at the Auditorium.

The two will battle in a two-out-of-3 falls scrap to highlight the 2nd mat slate of the season.

In other Wednesday night matches Hans Schmidt, the "meanie" of the rassle world, will take on The Russians in a tag-team event.

As an added attraction a pair of feminine mat experts, Kathy Starr and Laura Martinez, will show the men how it should be done.

First match begins at 8:30 p.m.

Gage County Title To Beatrice St. Joe

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice — Beatrice St. Joseph rolled to a 28-0 halftime lead and then coasted to a 34-7 victory over Holmesville here Thursday night to win the championship in the Gage County Conference.

Matt Schumacher and Jerry Fisher each scored twice for St. Joe, which collected its 7th straight 8-man victory without defeat. St. Joe bids for its first unbeaten season next week against Falls City Sacred Heart.

Yanks Said Offering Package For Ramos

New York (AP) — The world champion New York Yankees, old hands at package deals, reportedly are offering infielder Bobby Richardson and pitchers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant to Washington for right-hander Pete Ramos.

The report was carried in the New York Daily News Thursday night.

No Yankee spokesman was available for comment, but the champs' pursuit of Ramos and/or his pitching mate with the Senators, Camilo Pascual, is no secret.

The News also said Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, had offered the Senators a 4-player package — including pitcher Don Mossi and outfielder Woody Held — for Ramos. Lane was quoted as saying Senators' Boss Calvin Griffith "told me he had a better offer for Ramos from the Yankees."

The News said Lane declined to reveal the Yankee offer as described by Griffith. The Richardson-Kucks-Sturdivant offer was learned from another source, the newspaper said.

Ramos, 23, had a 14-18 record with the last place Senators this season. He had pitched two consecutive 6-hit shutouts against the Yankees before losing his last 5 decisions.

The listed world mark is 188 feet, 4 inches (57.4 meters) established by Anna Pazera of Australia.

Smith Paces Cards' Win

Nagoya, Japan (AP)—Bobby Gene Smith led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Japan All-Stars Thursday with a home run, two doubles and a single. It was the Cards' 4th victory in 5 games on their 16-game tour of Japan.

Joe Cunningham also hit a homer for the big leaguers with Ken Boyer on base in the 4th inning. He also singled in the 8th and scored with catcher Gene Green on Smith's second double.

Larry Jackson shut out the All-Stars for 7 innings with only 5 hits. The Cards' winning pitcher also hit what should have been a triple but wound up as a loud out when he failed to touch first base in the 5th after slamming a long drive to right center.

Omaha South To Play Scottsbluff

Omaha (AP)—Omaha South High School and Scottsbluff High School have signed a home-and-home two year football contract, South Principal Richard Krebs said Thursday.

Terms call for Scottsbluff to be host in 1959 and South in 1960. The latter game will be played at Municipal Stadium.

NU Quarterback Praised By AP

George Harshman, Nebraska's veteran quarterback, was lauded by an Associated Press survey of the top backfield candidates for All-American recognition in the Midlands.

The AP story said:

"Harshman almost had himself a major kill as the Cornhuskers forced highly favored Colorado to the limit before the Buffaloes prevailed 27-16.

"Harshman scored one touchdown, passed for another, kicked one extra point and booted a field goal. And his tremendous punting kept the Colorado club backed up until the last quarter."

Rated Class A Elevens Seek To Save Prep Prestige In Top Games Tonight

By Al Beebe

Hastings, Grand Island, and Lincoln High are all out to save some prestige tonight.

Hastings entertains Beatrice, and must win to nail down the MidEast Conference title. A Beatrice win would mean a two-way title tie, and Lincoln Southeast could also tie by beating Lincoln Northeast.

Grand Island, which can't represent the East in the Big 10 playoff (an honor Columbus holds), hopes to wind up its season unbeaten and in a tie with Columbus for the East title.

Lincoln High will seek a 2-2 split in games with Omaha clubs at Tech.

All could be rugged games, and are among the standouts tonight. Prediction score last week was a poor 38-17, leaving the season total at 197-72—732.

Lincoln High at Omaha Tech—Links should rebound against a fast-improving group of Trojans.

Grand Island at Fremont—Home team may be back in shape, and ready to give favored Islanders trouble.

Beatrice at Hastings—Orangemen are capable of winning, but it's not likely.

Lincoln Southeast at Lincoln Northeast (Oval)—Rockets gave tough Omaha Westside a battle last week, but Knights appear to be rolling well now. SE in a close game.

Pius X at Hebron—Home team is unbeaten, but hasn't played a tough schedule. Pius should move through Hebron's hefty line.

Omaha Benson at Creighton Prep—A romp to complete unbeaten year for top-rated Prep.

Alma at Red Cloud—A battle between rated Class C teams, with Alma likely to stay unbeaten.

West Point Guardian Angel at David City St. Mary's—Another game between ranking C powers. St. Mary's to win.

Omaha Westside at Columbus—This would be the time for Columbus to fall, with Big 10 out of the way. But we'll stick with home team in rated A-team battle.

The others (selection in black type):

Aurora at Albion, Gering at Alliance, Ashland at Wahoo, Auburn at Tecumseh, Oshkosh at Bayard, Broken Bow at Burwell, Seward at Central City, Lexington at Cozad, Schuyler at Crete, David City at Fullerton, Fairbury at Plattsmouth.

Superior at Geneva, Ord at Gothenburg, Imperial at Grant, Norfolk Sacred Heart at Hastings St. Cecilia, Minden at Holdrege, McCook at Kearney, Loup City at Ravenna, York at Norfolk, Sidney at North Platte, Omaha Central at CB TeeJay, Omaha South at CB Abe-Lynx, Pawnee City at Wymore, Papillion at Waverly, Casper, Wyo. at Scottsbluff, Ceresco at Dwight Assumption, Milford at Exeter, Dorchester at Sprague-Martell.

Shooting Hours

Sunset Friday: 5:24 p.m.
Sunrise Saturday: 6:58 a.m.
Sunset Saturday: 5:23 p.m.

Legal shooting hours—one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all game regulated by the Nebraska Game Commission.

Sunrise and sunset hours are given for Lincoln and any point in Nebraska due north or due south of Lincoln. Since sun time changes approximately one minute for each 13 miles in Nebraska, add one minute to the times above for each 13 miles west of Lincoln, for each 13 miles east of Lincoln subtract one minute.

Governor Supports LSU Grid Team

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—Gov. Earl Long Thursday proclaimed Saturday "Louisiana State University First in the Nation Day" in honor of the football team being ranked at the top of the AP football poll this week.

On that day, the LSU Tigers and Mississippi, ranked No. 6 nationally, collide in the 65,000-seat, sold out Tiger Stadium.

LSU students, celebrating the team's top rank, caught the governor's ear and the proclamation resulted.

Frosh Scrimmage Saturday Morning

A feature of Homecoming will be a scrimmage Saturday morning by the University of Nebraska freshmen. This will be held on the practice field at 9:30 a.m.

The young Huskers are preparing for their second game of the season to be played Friday, Nov. 7 against Kansas State. This contest will be played at the Stadium starting at 3 p.m.

Peru Hosts Chadron In Top NCC Contest

Peru—Peru and Chadron, two of the Nebraska College Conference's unbeaten football teams, tangle here tonight with a shot at a share of the 1958 NCC crown going to the winner.

Both clubs have 5-0 records in NCC play and each have one non-league triumph. They are currently tied with powerful Kearney for the loop lead and the winner could continue to stay at the top in the final standings.

In other NCC games tonight Kearney is at Dana and Wesleyan hosts Concordia in the Plainsman homecoming. Hastings is at Wayne and Midland at Doane Saturday.

Kearney is expected to breeze in its final two games against NCC doormatas Dana and Concordia, so tonight's contest is a do-or-die affair for both Peru and Chadron.

The season records show that the Bobcats are capable of a more explosive scoring attack than Chadron with backs Sid Brown, Gary Adams and Buddy Bookwalter leading the way.

Meyer

Chadron, however has shown bigger win margins against common NCC foes to rate a toss-up. Eagle offense leaders are Guido Santero, Virgil Meyer and Don Osborn.

Should Peru win, the Bobcats would have to get by Doane to finish unbeaten for the season while tough Nebraska Wesleyan would be Chadron's next foe should the Eagles win would be in the way of an unbeaten Chadron season should the Eagles win this one.

CDR ROTOR

TV marvel scans the skies like radar to pull in better pictures with your set!

ROTATES AUTOMATICALLY to track down the best possible picture on every channel.

AIMS YOUR ANTENNA straight at the sending tower of the channel you want.

NO WONDER YOU HAVE TV TROUBLE! Of course your picture is weak or snowy or plagued by "ghosts" on so many channels. Like most people, you're probably in a location where TV signals come from many directions, not just the one your antenna was set up to face.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT? Don't blame your antenna. It's doing the job it was built to do—bring in the stations it can "see." But now you can make it work 3 or 4 times as hard, 3 or 4 times as efficiently to bring you the best possible picture from any direction.

COSTS ONLY PENNIES A DAY! You don't need a new antenna to pull in those clearer, sharper, stronger pictures. What you need is the TV marvel that causes your present antenna to Circle and Detect like Radar—the CDR ROTOR. It will show you how much better your TV set is than you gave it credit for!

EASY AS ONE-TWO-THREE! Here's all it takes to make the amazing CDR ROTOR search the sky for the best possible picture:

1. Turn the handy Skysweep Direction Selector lever on the beautiful little Control Cabinet which rests on your TV set.

2. While the powerful rotating mechanism at the base of your roof-antenna turns it in a complete 360° circle, simply watch your screen till you see the picture clearer than it's ever been before.

3. Lift your finger from the lever and your antenna automatically locks in position. Settle back to enjoy the reception you've always wanted.

Simple, isn't it? So why settle for halfway TV? Pull in all the channels your set is equipped to receive—with a thrifty CDR ROTOR.

READ WHAT ACTUAL USERS SAY!

Hundreds of thousands of CDR Rotors are now in use—

"MORE STATIONS, BETTER PICTURES. We have lots of company from far and near, and they all say we get more stations and have a better picture than they do. The CDR ROTOR can not be beat." —Mrs. C. J. McCanse, Anthony, Kansas

"STATIONS WE NEVER DREAMED OF GETTING come in clean and clear. We never received real pleasure out of TV till we got the new CDR ROTOR." —Curtis Goss, Benton, Ill.

"YOU CAN USE MY NAME TO ADVERTISE if you wish. The picture is so clear, the people seem more real, in fact everything does. We like the CDR ROTOR very much." —M. C. Howe, Toledo, Ohio

More Specialization In Feed Industry Seen

"The whole field of mechanization and modernization of feed handling equipment and housing has not kept pace with the tremendous growth experienced in breeding and animal nutrition," an equipment manufacturing company representative asserted here Thursday.

This statement was made by Art W. Stegner, bulk storage products manager for Butler Manufacturing Co., Kansas City, Mo., in a talk before the 10th annual Feed and Nutrition Conference at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture. An estimated 100 persons attended the gathering.

Stegner compared the steps taken so far in the mechanical handling of feeds to the first steps into antiobiotics and growth stimulants within animal rations.

More and more specialization in the feed industry looms in the future, according to Dr. W. W. Cravens, director of feed research and nutrition, McMillen Feed Mills, Decatur, Ind., who predicted increased efficiency through design of a feed for each specific job to be done.

As many as 5 different feeds are now being used for turkeys during various stages of growth from the start of feeding operations until the bird is finished for market.

The current status of feeding tranquilizers to cattle, sheep and poultry with regard to feed efficiency and daily gain was discussed by Dr. W. G. Huber, Veterinary Research and Development Department, Chas. Pfizer & Co.

Dr. Huber warned those present that "one cannot expect tranquilizers to replace sound management and good sanitary procedures."

Certain tranquilizers do have a definite beneficial effect in agriculture and veterinary medicine, he continued.

Dr. Oscar E. Olson, South Dakota State College biochemist, underlined the importance of properly excluding oxygen in silage if nutrients are to be preserved.

Dr. Olson noted that there has been a revival of interest in silage in the Great Plains area recently. He urged farmers to consider types of storage which are efficient in preserving silage, and not be swayed entirely by the factors of low-cost construction and convenience.

Republicans Welcome OK From Union

Wayne, Neb. (AP) — State Republican Chairman Richard E. Spelts Thursday noted that a union which has endorsed Nebraska Republican Congressional candidates is not affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

The union is the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"Its endorsement of the Republican Congressional candidates is a welcome and positive proof of the Republican party's views on labor," said Spelts. "Our party has always supported collective bargaining and clean, lawful unionism."

The Republicans have been hitting at AFL-CIO endorsement of some Democratic candidates.

Labor Issue Out Of Proportion, Declares Miller

Sidney, Neb. (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) said Friday, "it seemes to me the labor issue has grown all out of proportion in the congressional contest, but it is true that it remains an issue."

"I have said time after time that I wanted the support of honest unions and honest laboring people," said Miller. "I said I did not want the support of gangster-ridden or boss-ridden labor unions. I said I wanted nothing from the Walter Reuther-Jimmy Hoffa type of labor."

Miller, campaigning for reelection, was commenting on his endorsement by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which endorsed all Republican congressional candidates in the state.

Queen At Cozad

Cozad, Neb.—Judy Hergenrader, Cozad High School senior, was crowned homecoming queen during the halftime ceremonies at the Cozad-Holdrege game. The queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hergenrader of Cozad.

GOP, Demo Chairmen Accuse Each Other Of Disregard For Civil Rights

Washington (AP) — The Republican and Democratic national chairmen accused each other's party of glaring disregard for civil rights.

The issue is important in northern districts where the Negro vote is heavy, and here is what Democrat Paul M. Butler and Republican Meade Alcorn had to say about it 5 days before election:

Butler — "The Republican party has a long and public record of callous duplicity on human rights . . . It took a Democratic Congress to pass the first civil rights legislation in this century."

Alcorn—"We had 20 years of nothing in the field of civil rights when Democrats controlled both the Congress and the White House."

Alcorn started the immediate quarrel by circulating charges to "document the shoddy Democrat record on civil rights."

'Liability'

These charges said that Democratic national leaders "praised and wooed Gov. (Orval) Faubus of Arkansas until they realized he had become a distinct political liability."

They also said Butler had been forced to retreat from criticism of southern Democrats who oppose a strong civil rights stand.

They said Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1952, had declared that southerners got help from northern and western democrats to "impede legislative progress in civil rights."

Finally, the Alcorn presentation called the Democrats 1956 civil rights plank a statement that called only for inaction. He said the GOP plank, by contrast, called for action to support court orders against segregation.

Butler responded with a statement saying Alcorn's research into civil rights "is as scanty as the Republican record of real achievement in that field."

Comes Close

The Democrat said Alcorn had remarked in Little Rock this September that the Republican party is the only one that comes close to what the southern voter believes.

Further, Butler recalled that Lee Potter, Virginia GOP leader, said in Richmond last year that "our party is for segregation."

Then, the Butler reply continued, there was the case of the "youth march for integrated schools" in Washington last Saturday. He said: "A delegation called at the White House. President Eisenhower was not available. He was playing golf . . . no one would see them."

Butler went on:

"The final demonstration of Republican cynicism on human rights is that the President has indicated that he feels integration is progressing too fast and has never said that he believed the decision of the Supreme Court on school segregation was morally right."

Double Celebration At Eagle Church

The Trinity Lutheran Church of Eagle held 2 ceremonies Thursday—both for the same person and both at the same time. Mrs. Maggie Siekman (right) was honored for being the oldest living member of the church. At the same time church members also helped celebrate her 80th birthday. Helping celebrate were: (left to right) Rev. F. L. Cress, Mrs. Floyd Siekman and Floyd Siekman. (Star Photo)

Rotary Club Cites Clyde W. Howard

Clyde W. Howard of 2957 No. 44th was named winner of the Northeast Rotary Club's first courtesy award project.

Howard

Howard, a trucker, was cited for his service to Northeast Lincoln's youth.

Fred Hess, Northeast Rotary Club president said the courtesy award would become an annual presentation.

Arms Buildup

Bern, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss government asked parliament for a special appropriation of 283,994,000 Swiss francs ($66,220,000) for new military equipment and installations. Most of the credit is to be used to purchase military vehicles, lengthen air strips, build radar stations, stock up fuel and improve other technical services.

Farewell Honors Gen. Galloway

Omaha (AP) — Maj. Gen. Gerald Galloway, commanding general of the Missouri River Division of the Army Engineers was honored at an Omaha Chamber of Commerc public affairs luncheon. He has headed the division since May, 1956.

It was a farewell appearance for Galloway who leaves Friday to head the Fort Belvoir, Va., engineer school. He introduced his successor, Maj. Gen. Keith Barney, who will assume his duties in Omaha next week.

Good Roads

Mexico City (AP)—The Arab Road Assn. has a good argument for good roads. Its report to the International Road Federation meeting here says: "Cars traveling on earth roads . . . adversely affect marginal land through dust settlement. The yield alongside these road margins is 25% less than average."

Ft. Randall Power Line Loan Approved

Washington (AP)—A $4,887,000 loan to the Nebraska Generation & Transmission Co-operative to finance construction of a 230-kilovolt power line and substation was announced by the Rural Electrification Administration Thursday.

The 126-mile line will extend from the South Dakota-Nebraska state line to Columbus, Neb., where it will connect with a new 100,000 kilovolt substation.

A line from the Ft. Randall Power Plant in South Dakota will connect with the new facilities at the state line.

An REA spokesman said the facilities will be leased to the Loup River Public Power District and the Platte Valley Public Power District.

The line, he said, will enable the districts to buy a minimum of 60,000 kilowatts of power a year from the Reclamation Bureau's Ft. Randall Power Plant.

Loup River and Platte Valley will provide additional power to 27 rural public power districts in eastern Nebraska. These smaller districts provide service to 87,987 farmers and rural consumers in the eastern part of the state.

Such a line has long been sought. Original efforts were to get the government to build one to Grand Island. The later move shifted the Nebraska terminus farther east.

The G and T is currently seeking status as a public power district.

Touring Illinoisans Inspect Lincoln Plant

Forty Illinois businessmen and farmers inspected Honneggers' Fairchild Division plant at Lincoln Thursday during a 500-mile tour by air.

Ten private planes carrying the visitors touched down at Union Airport north of the city and were immediately taken on a tour of the Lincoln plant at 6th and G.

The group of business, professional and farm interests represented such Illinois cities as Fairbury, Forrest, Gibson City, Pontiac, Decatur and Chicago.

Other Sites Seen

En route by air to Lincoln, the delegation also visited Honneggers' & Co. metal equipment plant at Taylorville, Ill., its feed plant at Indianola, Ia., and farm building plant at Onawa, Ia.

At the Lincoln plant, they viewed new grain storage bins under construction and considerable remodeling of the plant for expanded operations.

Fairchild Entertains

L. H. Fairchild, vice president and general manager of the Fairchild Division plant, directed the tour and was host at a dinner for the Illinois visitors and some 40 Lincoln businessmen.

Accompanying the Illinois delegation were Sam Honegger, president of Honneggers' & Co., Inc., Ed Dickey, general manager, Erwin Wascher, asst. general manager, and Elmer Roth, sales manager.

Honnegger officials use air travel to reach the company's wide-spread operations, Fairchild said, and the company owns a number of private planes.

War Weary Nationalists Fete Chiang

. . . Shelling Light

From Press Dispatches

Taipei (Friday)—Nationalist China turned from war worries to exuberant celebrations of President Chiang Kai-shek's 72nd birthday.

While the durable Nationalist leader spent the day in the seclusion at a rural retreat, his countrymen turned out for rallies up and down the island.

Meanwhile the Chinese Communists eased their bombardment of the Quemoy offshore islands while the United States turned over to the Nationalist forces a shipment of M-41 tanks.

Lowest In Days

A Defense Ministry communique said Red shore guns fired their lowest bombardment in 4 days against the Nationalist-held Quemoys.

In a dispatch from shell-pocked Quemoy, a light artillery duel was reported through the day Thursday which continued after nightfall.

The firing lifted by 9 p.m., and a lull settled in during the late evening hours. The Reds have followed this pattern of light, intermittent shelling since they announced their day-on, day-off tactics last Saturday.

On Quemoy also, the Nationalist garrison was called out for a troop ceremony honoring Chiang's birthday.

Roy R. Mastin, Attorney, Dies

Seward, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Methodist Church for Roy R. Mastin, 77, Seward attorney for 46 years.

He was born at Fairfield, Neb., and was associated with Norval Brothers law firm in Seward.

Survivors include his widow Anna; son, Charles of San Anselmo, Calif.; and daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Maron of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Imogene Hull of Laurel.

'Not Time Enough To Replace Demo State Candidate'

Omaha (AP)—There will not be time to name another Democratic candidate for state auditor to take the place of the late J. R. Kelly on the Nov. 4 ballot, state Democratic Chairman Russell Hanson said Thursday.

The central committee could select a candidate and solicit write-in votes for him although there is no way of getting another name on the ballot at this late date.

However, the Democratic organization felt that it could not do justice to another candidate in the short time left before the election.

Kelly, who was opposing State Auditor Ray Johnson, died Wednesday night.

County of Lancaster)

I, the undersigned County Clerk of the County aforesaid, do hereby certify that the within bond has been registered in my office pursuant to the provisions of the Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, as amended.

WITNESS my hand and seal of said County this day of County Clerk."

Section 5. That the Mayor and City Clerk are hereby authorized without unnecessary delay to prepare and execute said bonds and coupons as provided herein.

Section 6. That the special assessments levied and to be levied in said Water Districts to pay the cost of said improvements are hereby set aside and shall constitute a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds and interest to accrue thereon, and in the event of deficiency therein, it shall be the duty of the Council in due time and form annually to levy a sufficient tax upon all the taxable property in said city to promptly pay the principal of and interest on said bonds as they mature.

Section 7. That for the payment of said bonds, principal and interest, the full faith and credit of said city, and its properties, revenues and resources are hereby irrevocably pledged.

Section 8. After said bonds have been executed, they shall be registered in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Nebraska, and in the office of the County Clerk of Lancaster County, as provided by law, and the Clerk is directed to make the necessary transcript of the proceedings for that purpose. After such registration as above provided, the Director of the Department of Accounts and Finance and the City Treasurer shall purchase the said bonds with money from the Fire and Police Pension fund of the said city of Lincoln, and pay therefor, par plus accrued interest to the date of delivery of the bonds to the said fund. And it is hereby further directed that the City Treasurer hold the said bonds so acquired as an investment for the Police and Fire Pension Fund of the City of Lincoln, crediting all principal and interest collected on said bonds to the said fund, until maturity, unless otherwise directed by the City Council.

Section 9. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication as provided by law.

Loeffel Will Receive Award For Outstanding Work In Meat Field

Prof. William J. "Bill" Loeffel, chairman of the Animal Husbandry Department of the University of Nebraska, will receive the Reciprocal Meat Conference award in connection with Rooters Day here Friday.

Prof. Loeffel

He is one of 3 men in the nation selected as being outstanding in the meat field by the Reciprocal Meat Conference. The conference is composed of 150 members from 34 agricultural colleges, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the National Live Stock and Meat Board, the American Meat Institute and the Quartermaster Food and Container Institute.

Loeffel has conducted many livestock marketing schools at the Omaha Live Stock Market for both college students and county agents.

He has supervised meat processing for the Nebraska Emergency Relief Administration in 1934-35 and served on the National Meat Review Committee from 1935 to 1946; the last 4 years as chairman.

4-H Supporter

Many of the methods and programs reaching the consumer with meat information used by the National Live Stock and Meat Board are reflections of Loeffel's sage advice and cooperation. He also served on the National Meat Review Committee and the Conference on Co-operative Met Investigations.

He has been an active supporter of 4-H livestock work and has assisted with the 4-H show at the Nebraska State Fair. In addition, he served as superintendent of the Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Live Stock Show at Omaha and as a member of the board of governors of the American Royal Live Stock Show at Kansas City, Mo.

Last spring Loeffel was honored as an outstanding stockman by the College's Block and Bridle Club and this fall he was cited by the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Assn. for outstanding service to students and stockmen.

Hog Evaluation Will Open 23rd NU Rooters Day

Swine producers around Nebraska will gather here today for the 23rd annual Rooters Day on the College of University of Nebraska.

The traditional fall event will open with a live hog evaluation at 8:45 a.m. in the Meats Laboratory on the colege campus. Paul Q. Guyer, Extension animal husbandman, will conduct the evaluation.

The event will move to the College Activities Building at 9:45 a.m., for reports of 10 different swine studies carried out by the college.

The "Hog Outlook" will be outlined at 11:50 a.m., by Donald Engel, Extension animal husbandman at the College.

The afternoon program will open at 1 p.m., with a carcass evaluation by Charles H. Adams, assistant professor of animal husbandry.

The Nebraska Swine Council will meet at the conclusion of Rooters Day.

250 Men Attend Wisner Banquet

Wisner, Neb. — About 250 men were present for the annual feeders' banquet sponsored by the Wisner Feeders Assn.

Hart Jorgensen of Omaha was guest speaker and Bob Cunningham, also of Omaha, was master of ceremonies. A special guest was Don Cunningham of Sioux City, for years the banquet master of ceremonies here. Failing health has forced him to retire.

Don Kvols is the association president; Gene Von Seggern, secretary, and Norman Oleson, treasurer.

Weather Control District Opponents Seeking Dissolution Of Organization

Scottsbluff, Neb. (AP) —Opponents of Nebraska's first weather control district have organized and will meet Nov 12 to seek a way to force a special election on dissolution of the district.

Gene Lowry of Lyman is president. Leo Schumacher of Minatare is secretary, and Robert Preston of Lyman, treasurer.

The district, covering all of Scotts Bluff and the valley parts of Morrill, Sioux and Banner Counties, was created at an election in May by a two to one majority.

It grew out of a volunteer organization which raised money to finance hail suppression work by seeding storm clouds and now is authorized under state law to levy up to a mill on property in the district.

An attorney for the group has filed an application for mandamus in District Court asking district directors be ordered to call another election.

Stocks Miss New Record

New York (AP) — Huge early buying drive lost momentum and the stock market backed away from a new record high Thursday.

The final pattern was irregular with the overall market statistics showing a slight edge to the downside.

Profit taking converted many gains of key stocks to losses so the final picture showed an assortment of gains and losses running from fractions to about a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 30c to $199.20, topping the record closing high of $199.10 reached Oct. 17. By the close, however, the average was down to $198.80, showing a minimum loss of 10c.

The industrials were off 30c, the rails off 20c and the utilities were up 30c.

A mighty surge of transactions put the first hour total at 1,100,000 shares, the biggest since Jan. 16.

Wall Streeters anticipated a test of the Oct. 17 high and that's what happened. High quality steels and motors led the initial assault.

The business news background was good, including a report that incoming business of manufacturing firms last month topped the year-earlier level for the first time in 1958.

Oils were on the upside consistently despite Cairo reports of Israeli troop movements which caused easing of oils in the London exchange.

Steels, motors, rails, coppers, drugs and airlines were mostly lower. Chemicals, aircrafts and tobaccos were mixed.

Of 1,218 issues traded, 506 declined and 479 advanced. There were 131 new highs for the year and 4 new lows.

Volume for the day was 4,360,000 shares compared with 4,790,000 Wednesday. Turnover fell considerably after the first two hours.

American Stock Exchange prices trended lower on volume of 1,350,000 shares compared with 1,570,000 Wednesday.

Markets At A Glance

New York (AP) —

Stocks —Mixed; profit taking.

Bonds — Mixed; governments lower.

Cotton—Lower; hedging, liquidation.

Chicago:

Wheat—Slightly lower; late selling.

Corn — Higher; scattered short covering.

Oats—Irregular; light trade

Soybeans — Lower; late profit taking.

Hogs — Steady to 15c lower; top $19.65.

Cattle — Slaughter steers steady; top $28.

MOST GRAINS RUN LOWER

Chicago (AP)—Corn and oats added further small price gains Thursday on the board of trade but soybeans and other grains ran out of buyer support and finished slightly lower.

At times, however, all contracts were ahead by fractions of a cent in the slow trade and showed some indications of carrying prices upward generally for the 3rd successive day. But the advances, although small, were too attractive to some speculative dealers to be ignored and their steady offerings finally wiped out all the plus signs in wheat, soybeans and most of the rye contracts.

Commercial influences were meager or absent with most of the transactions carried on by speculative traders who frankly expressed doubt as to which way the market was headed.

At no time were the price shifts beyond a cent a bushel either way from previous closes and most of the time they were within minor fractions.

At the close, wheat was 1/8-3/8-cent a bushel lower, December $1.93¼-½; corn unchanged to ½ higher, December old type contract $1.10½-⅝; oats ⅜-⅞ higher, December .64⅝-½; rye ⅜ higher to ¾ lower, December $1.31⅛-31, and soybeans 1/8-1-cent lower, November $2.10-10⅞.

A good deal of the recent buyer support has been linked with belief that despite the huge crop yields, commercial supplies will be no larger than last year and could possibly be much smaller.

BOND MARKET

New York (AP) — Corporate bonds closed narrowly higher Thursday while U. S. government securities drifted lower.

Rails, industrials and foreign bonds led the corporate rise on expanded volume. Investment quality issues and utilities shaded lower.

The government decline was on light turnover. Dealers reported little retail interest and price levels under slight but persistent pressure all day.

Save Trains Assn. Enters High Court

Save The Trains Assn. asked the State Supreme Court Thursday to reverse Douglas County District Court which dismissed the association's petition seeking an order forcing the operation between Omaha and Chadron.

In a brief filed with the high court, the association said the District Court erred in sustaining the railway's motion for dismissal of the petition on grounds the lower court lacked jurisdiction over the matter.

The District Court case involved the association's request that the railroad be ordered to put the trains back into operation until the company had received a Supreme Court mandate allowing it to withdraw the two trains.

The company withdrew the trains shortly after the Supreme Court had reversed a State Railway Commission order denying discontinuance of the train service.

Hastings Couple Head Mariners

Omaha—Dr. and Mrs. N. C. Gustafson of Hastings were elected skippers at the 9th annual Mariners cruise for the United Presbyterian Synod of Nebraska.

Other officers include Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ragatz of Lincoln, first mates; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dilley of North Platte, logkeepers; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grau of Omaha, pursers.

The 1959 cruise will be held in Holdrege.

Driver Bruised

Raymond D. Schweitzer, 24, of 145 So. 37th was treated for bumps and bruises and released by a local doctor following an accident early Thursday afternoon. A car driven by Schweitzer struck a tree at 41st and O.

Sanctioned Drag Strip 'Promotes Safety,' Group Tells Local Council

By Virgil Falloon

A sanctioned "drag strip" is safe and can actually encourage safe driving and promote public safety, the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council's counseling board was told Thursday.

Richard Wells, Lincoln Timing Association president, said a sanctioned strip means a close safety check of participating cars, supervision of the drivers, and complete insurance coverage at modest cost.

Non-sanctioned or "outlaw" strips are giving the general public wrong impressions concerning drag racing, he explained.

KC Has Nearest Strip

Wells quoted a statement by the Kansas City police chief that organized and supervised drag racing actually promotes general public safety.

He said that Kansas City has the closest sanctioned drag strip to Lincoln.

Lincoln now has 7 auto clubs with 175 members, but Wells predicted that club membership could easily reach 400 if a sanctioned drag strip could be provided.

He said facilities at Arrow Airport might be used if the financial means to make necessary improvements for a strip could be found to obtain National Hot-Rodders Assn. approval.

Safe Driving Projects

Wells said the auto clubs have strict membership standards and have a number of projects for promoting safe driving.

Currently under consideration is a "spotter service," which would result in driving safety violators receiving courtesy letters.

Following discussion, the counseling board voted to recommend to the Council that efforts be made to get the "information and facts" concerning sanctioned drag-strip racing.

In other action, the counseling board okayed the suggestion for a "Prince and Princess of Safety" in co-operation with the Lincoln Youth Council.

Competition for the title would be through teenager essays on a safety topic. The 12 finalists would prepare short talks.
